GRAFT CASES READY TO BE SUBMITTED!

All Preliminary Motions
Have Been Made on Behalf of Defense.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 29.—All the preliminary motions made on behalf of the accused "grafters" will be submitted to Judge Lawlor by Friday next. The trolley and telephone cases are almost ready for submission and the gas cases only lack some of the testimony which has been given on behalf of Glass and Halsey.

Attorney McEnery announced this morning that he could cover this testimony by stipulating with Attorney Cobb. He said when the charges against Frank G. Drum, Eugene De Sabla and John Martin were called, that he did not expect to argue the legal points raised in his motion to set aside the indictments and to stay the proceedings.

"I have explained to Mr. Cobb," he said, "what we expect to prove. It will not require much time to formulate a stipulation covering the desired points."

"There are still some matters to be considered in the motions made by the defendant Glass," replied Judge Lawlor. "I would suggest that these cases go over until Wednesday."

"With the understanding," interposed Cobb, "that all the matters be finally submitted the first thing on Friday morning."

Attorney McEnery had no objection to make and Judge Lawlor gave it his approval.

Judge Suffers Sudden Illness

Superior Judge T. W. Harris was taken violently sick at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of his father in Pleasanton with an attack of either neuralgia or appendicitis, but is now convalescent under the care of Dr. W. H. Cope. Judge Harris went down to his home town to spend Thursday night and return Friday morning. He was unable to resume his court duties and for a time was thought to be in a very critical condition until placed under the care of a physician. Unless complications set in, Judge Harris will return to court next week.

HURLED INTO STREET BY CAR AND FATALY HURT

ADMIT DRINKING
BEFORE WRECK

Word of Death Told
Wife by Hospital
Steward.

John Johnson, a tailor living at 1940 Linden street, was thrown out of a wagon in a street car collision at Twenty-eighth and Grove streets last night about 8 o'clock and sustained a concussion of the brain which caused his death about two hours later at the Receiving Hospital. Johnson was riding home last evening in the wagon driven by Con. H. Townsend, a bricklayer of 1936 Linden street and neighbor to Johnson. Dan Foley, a hod carrier of 871 Thirtieth street, was also in the wagon.

Townsend and Foley admitted that they had been drinking, but both said Johnson was never known to drink. When they were near the corner of Twenty-eighth and Grove streets a car was coming down the slight grade at a normal rate of speed, but for some reason or other Townsend could not pull the horse out of the track of the approaching car until it was too late. The horse was struck by the car and was later shot.

The three occupants of the wagon were precipitated to the street. Johnson struck on his head. Townsend and Foley managed to escape without serious injuries. After Johnson had died Howard Borchert went out to his residence and informed his wife of the fatality. She and her two little children had been anxiously waiting for the appearance of Johnson for several hours.

JEALOUS BOARDER KILLS WOMAN WHO SPURNED HIM

Nine-Year-Old Son Pleads With Murderer to Spare the Life of His Mother.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Dragged from her bed by a jealous suitor, Mrs. Mary Molesworth, a widow, was shot and killed last night at her home, 6248 Normal avenue. Cecil Gibson, the murderer, then turned his revolver on Thomas Jones, a boarder in the house, and wounded him possibly fatally. The killing was done in the presence of the woman's nine-year-old son, who pleaded with Gibson to spare her life. Mrs. Molesworth, who was 34 years of age, was shot twice in the head.

Death was instantaneous. The victim conducted a boarding house and Gibson took his meals there, although he slept elsewhere. He was immensely jealous of the attention she paid to Jones and frequently had threatened to kill her. Gibson was arrested and Jones taken to a hospital. From all that the police could learn Gibson had been courting Mrs. Molesworth for several years, seeking her consent to marry him. He is said to have been encouraged at the beginning, but later Jones seemed to have supplanted him.

TULA, Russia, June 29.—The incendiary movement among the peasants in revenge for the dissolution of parliament has assumed serious proportions. The losses were very heavy.

Believes Avenger Was His Assailant

Harry Bride, a horse trainer living in Emeryville, was the victim of some unidentified assailant last night while crossing Thirteenth street and Broadway. He said he was walking along the street when, before he realized what had happened, he was struck on the head by some person from behind. A gash an inch and a half long was made over the left eye. Bride told Assistant Steward Travers at the Receiving Hospital when the wound was being dressed that he thought some avenger must have given him the blow and escaped in the crowd before he could be caught.

Hunters May Get Coveted Badges

The small aluminum badges for hunters have at last arrived at the County Clerk's office, and sportsmen can be accommodated with the licenses to hunt. For the past two weeks, since the license applications have been received, hundreds have been turned away because the badges were not on hand. All hunters must wear a badge and pay a license to hunt and kill wild birds and animals protected by law. There is no restriction on fishing without a license.

Mrs. Heggerty, in discussing the difficulty, said: "I went to the address given in the ad as if studying. I asked him what I applied for, the position as cook and a woman answered the bell. Superintendent Reed of Seattle and Local Manager, Dumars of Portland are traveling through the states of Washington and Oregon looking up telegraphers who have retired from the service, with a view of inducing them to come to Oakland and San Francisco and take the places of the strikers.

The finance committee of the Telegraphers' Union posted a notice at headquarters today requesting that any of the strikers in need of money at any time call upon them and have their wants supplied.

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—The condition of Francis Murphy took a decided change for the worse at an early hour this morning and he has been unconscious practically ever since. He is aroused to a sense of his surroundings only by the greatest effort, and the physicians believe that the end is not far off. Radical means are being resorted to to prolong his life until his four sons are able to reach his bedside, but it is doubtful now if they will arrive here in time. One of the sons is expected tonight and two others tomorrow.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR GOVERNMENT PRINTERS

Man's Death Is Shrouded In Mystery!

Did George Simmers, a guard for the Western Union Telegraph Company, meet with an accidental death in its yards at Peralta street early this morning or was he murdered?

There are those of his intimate friends who believe that the circumstances surrounding his strange death should be fully probed. They point out the fact that on two occasions at least Simmers' life was attempted.

Shortly after 5 o'clock this morning other guards in the yards of the Western Union Telegraph Company heard a pistol shot. They rushed in the direction from which the sound came and found Simmers lying in a pool of blood and a frightful wound beginning at his right eye and ending with a smashed skull. He was unconscious and died half an hour after being taken to the Receiving Hospital without speaking a word.

TALKS WITH MYSTERIOUS STRANGER.

By the side of the injured man was a new Colt's 44 revolver that he carried in his overcoat pocket.

Just before the accident Simmers had been seen talking with a stranger. It may be that in stooping over to pick up something from the ground that the revolver fell from his pocket and exploded.

The bullet entered his head just above the right eye and spattering his brains through a vent in the rear of his skull.

NOT AN OPERATOR, BUT A GUARD.

Simmers was not an operator. He began serving as a guard when the recent telegraphers strike began. The dead man has lived in Oakland off and on for twelve years, and had a residence here until lately, when he began living at 1229 Franklin street with a friend, R. Van Houten.

He was fifty years old and has a brother in Ohio and a sister in Iowa, both of whom have been notified of the tragedy.

Intimate friends of Simmers are sincere in their belief that the man met with foul play.

The dead man alleged and was bringing a suit to maintain his

SAYS POSTAL OPERATORS SHOW TERRIFIC STRAIN

The Striking Telegraphers Organize Ball
Teams and Prepare for Extensive Outing Trips—Fear No Strikebreakers.

WEST OAKLAND, June 29.—At the headquarters of the telegraphers' union President Small said this morning: "I am still optimistic and feel sure a settlement will be reached before the end of the coming week. After nine days our position is stronger than on the first day of the strike. There are no indications of weakness on our side and we feel that the stereotype demands of the company, without an exhibition of the fact, is a decided weakness on their part. The strike situation is unchanged, unless it be that the two companies are more crippled than on the first day of the strike. The Postal Telegraph company in San Francisco is making little effort to do any thing to break down the strike. They have a larger number of employees, but comparatively speaking, are doing no better than the Postal Telegraph company in moving business. Today reports showing over 6000 telegrams were filed at Chicago, Los Angeles, Denver, Portland, Seattle and Salt Lake—all of them over forty-eight hours old. The Postal Telegraph company delivered telegrams last evening four days old. Every striker is firm in his determination to stay out until a satisfactory settlement is reached, no matter how long it lasts. We are watching closely for strike-breakers headed this way. We have little fear in this direction, however. Today, the ninth day of the strike, the acquisitions to the forces outside of the officials, number less than eight. Commencing next Monday, we will call in our pickets and go in for pleasure more extensively than we did this week. There is no fear in keeping pickets on

EXPECT DEATH TO FOLLOW GARBAGE DRIVER'S STRIKE

Plan on Foot to Organize 200,000 Italian Railroad Laborers for Walk-Out All Over Nation.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Early today scores of carts manned by non-union men and volunteers from the Health Department sallied forth to tackle the piles of garbage and refuse that have accumulated in the streets since the strike of the city's drivers began five days ago. The East Side, where conditions are especially serious because of the dense population, was first visited and at daylight considerable progress was being made in removing the foul smelling refuse.

Conditions in some parts of this congested district can be imagined when it is said that the accumulations have actually made streets impassable. The air is so fouled that residents have had to keep their windows closed, a condition that adds to the discomfort in the prevailing hot spell. Several doctors who have visited the districts where conditions are worst, say that a great deal of sickness and many deaths must necessarily follow as a consequence of this disastrous strike.

FIGHT DEPARTMENT.

The Health Department, which has been called upon by the Mayor in this emergency, to prevent pestilence, is actively with the Health Department, who has been put in charge of the work with full power, personally directed the onslaught on the garbage heaps today. It is a curious fact that the people whose health and very lives are menaced by the prevailing conditions yesterday aided the strikers in an attempt to drive away workmen who had been sent to remove the garbage. Realizing this curious situation, Dr. General called for and is receiving ample police protection. The strikers are showing signs of uneasiness now that the Health Department has taken hold and have sent a communication to the newspapers offering to arbitrate.

4000 CARPENTERS GO OUT FOR MORE PAY

NEW YORK, June 29.—Ten thousand carpenters have made their way into effect today. The carpenters in the employ of the City of New York, who numbered 4000 in number, will have their request granted. On January their pay was increased from $1.50 a day to $2.00 a day, a promise of $2.50 a day July 1. The employees will keep faith with them. On the other hand, the 4000 carpenters in the employ of independent firms have been refused the increase and went on strike at noon.

600 TRACKMEN STOP WORK ON N. Y. CENTRAL

NEW YORK, June 29.—Following the strike of 600 trackmen on the New York Central Railroad, a movement has been started to organize the 200,000 or more Italian railroad employees all over the United States and bring about a higher scale of wages. At the head of this movement is Michael Sylvester of Chicago, who is now managing the strike against the New York Central.

Without a word to their employers, the 600 trackmen quit their jobs in the Grand Central yards last Sunday. The men want a new wage scale of 20 cents an hour for a day of 10 hours. They have been receiving $1.50 a day. Efforts have been made by the railroad officials to get Italian strike breakers to fill the places of the strikers, but without success.

Leader Sylvester has addressed many meetings of the New York Central employees. He says the Italian trackmen throughout the country are ready for organization and that a national union will soon be formed with branches in almost every city of prominence in the United States.

NEW YORKERS SUFFER WHEN ICE MEN STRIKE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Another strike which has come to pierce Greater New York during the heated season is that of the ice men. The strike has cut off the supply of ice to many of the city's saloons and other places where ice is a prime necessity. At some of the saloons the ice men had given a friendly tip the day before and a large supply of ice was laid in. But it was carefully concealed.

The ice men, who are well-to-do rather than the tenement people, who buy their supplies from pushcarts or go to the ice houses to get their supply. The strikers got the idea yesterday that the pushcarts were giving too small pieces of ice and decided to strike. They left without ice and many a householder had to appeal to the grocer.

The men who are striking are about 600 in number, were employed by the American Ice Company, which controls the ice business in New York. The refusal of the company to discharge some of its men at the demands of the union, it is said, caused the strike.

TREASURER AYER DOES NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH INTEREST.

CITY TREASURER AYER is at present at a loss regarding the disposal of some $3000 of the municipality's money and states that he will seek legal advice. The money is a sum paid to the city from the banks in which the coin derived from a recent sale of bonds is deposited. Under the old law, all moneys accruing from the sale of bonds or incident thereto, should be credited to the particular fund for the benefit of which the bonds were issued; but under a recent enactment, empowering cities to deposit public money in banks, the two methods of disposition in the process must be turned into the general fund.

Oakland now has about $800,000 being used by local banks upon which interest at the rate of $1000 per month accrues. As practically all of the principal is money raised for sewer purposes, the question to be solved is "shall the earnings be expended in improving the sewer system, or shall they be devoted to general city purposes?"

Mr. Ayer confesses that he has been unable to determine the final disposition of the sum, in view of the apparent conflict of the statutes.

SAYS HE WANTS TO WED SEATTLE BEAUTY

He is a beautiful girl, who is willing to assume the obligations of matrimony.

Herring does not imagine that the most beautiful woman in Seattle will reject his advances, but assumes that they will be the cause of contention among thousands of pretty girls.

INTERESTING TRIP TO YOSEMITE BY RAILROAD

Beautiful Scenery All the Way to El Portal —Some Points About the Journey.

The Yosemite Valley has become a week-end resort, by reason of the completion of the Yosemite Valley Railroad. I spent several days in the incomparable valley last week, after completing my journalistic work for the week, and got back to the city on Sunday evening for dinner. The trip could not be called a flying one; by any means. On the contrary, it was a leisurely one. I took the 8:20 a. m. Southern Pacific train and reached Merced about 3 o'clock. A short ride of a few blocks in a bus brought me to the station of the Yosemite Valley Railroad, where a train was in waiting for the passengers from San Francisco. In a few minutes we were flying across the well-cultivated plain beyond the Merced river and headed for the Yosemite Valley. The run on the plains is short. Very soon we were in the gorge through which the Merced river comes tumbling and brawling from the snow-capped mountains. A more picturesque ride is not to be had in the world. The trip to Santa Cruz over the narrow gauge road gives a faint idea of the beauty of the scenic route traversed by the Yosemite Valley Railroad trains. The latter, however, affords a continuous feast for the eye during the three and a half hours it takes to make the run from Merced to El Portal, the gate of the Yosemite Valley. The name is most appropriate.

The train follows every curve of the beautiful river and reveals vista after vista of mountain scenery that keeps the passengers entranced. Then as the sunset shadows deepen the purple of the towering mountains covered with forests the journey for the day ends at the canvas hotel of El Portal. There has not yet been time to erect the hotel which is to become one of the permanent attractions of that beautiful spot. The mountain gorge widens at El Portal and affords ample room for the hundred or so of comfortable tents, and the large canvas pavilion which serves as a dining room. The spot is so beautiful in the summer evening; haze that the traveler feels that he has been well repaid for his journey, even if he saw nothing of the wonders of Yosemite. Here the city tourist, tired of the dust and turmoil of the metropolis, could gladly camp for a week and enjoy every moment of it, while the white river below at the bottom of the ravine cooled the summer air and gushed on tumbling over endless cataracts in its mad haste to reach the ocean.

But the tourist must be up and stirring with the early birds for the last and most delightful stage of the journey has to be made next morning. After a dinner worthy of the old Palace grill I turned in to my tent with its bearded and carpeted floor and was soon so soundly asleep in a bed that was the scene of comfort, that the porter's loud rap on the door woke me out of what I thought was an hour's sleep. The sun was already shining over the eastern hills, however, and the air was full of the song and twitter of birds and the perfume of the wild azalea and the balmy pines.

After an enjoyable breakfast in the canvas pavilion there came the always interesting scene of the starting of the stage coaches for the Yosemite Valley. One by one they filled up with their passengers and rattled off amidst the cracking of whips, waving of handkerchiefs and the chorus of good-bys from the outward-bound tourists who were waiting for the train to go back towards Merced. In all five stages rolled up and left the bank of the river, heading for the Yosemite, and a lighter-hearted crowd than those Yosemite tourists, on a fine June morning, with the pines rustling above their heads and the river roaring below them, would indeed be hard to find. Very morose must be the map whose mind at such a moment would remain filled with disturbing thoughts of business or any other troubles. The city with its cares seems as far away as if planted on the planet Mars.

Nobody has ever written a decent description of the Yosemite, no more than has any artist ever painted a correct picture of it, so I shall not attempt the task impossible.

From El Portal to the actual boundary of the Yosemite Valley is but a mile. Then for twelve miles more you ride along the bank of the mad Merced amidst scenery unsurpassed in grandeur, only by the Titanic majesty of the walls of granite that compose El Capitan, Cathedral Rocks, the Three Brothers, the South Dome. A score of nameless but beautiful waterfalls greet the eye before it is spellbound by the sight of cataracts over which the foam-beaten waters come tumbling down thousands of feet and form the famed Nevada Falls, the Bridal Veil, Yosemite Falls, Vernal Falls, etc.

The flying trip to the Yosemite Valley, which was made quite recently by Mr. Fisher, the noted San Francisco builder, illustrates the present possibilities of rapid travel to and from the Yosemite. Mr. Fisher's visit was for business purposes, as he has the contract to erect a fine 200-room hotel at El Portal. He left the city in the afternoon and slept at Merced. Next morning at 7 o'clock he left Merced for El Portal on a Sheffield twelve-horse-power gasoline motor car, with O. W. Lemmer, the popular and capable manager of the Yosemite Valley Railroad, H. P. Anewalt, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe, W. J. Shattuck, district freight agent of the same road, J. Reimers, landscape gardener of the Santa Fe, and D. Coleman, the San Francisco architect. At 10:45 the party arrived at El Portal and lunched on the mountain trout and other delicacies with which mine host, Sells, keeps his larger stocked for hungry wayfarers.

After lunch the party took a stage from El Portal to the Yosemite Valley and stayed at the Sentinel Hotel. Next morning the party returned to Merced on the same route, and Mr. Fisher stated that the trip was most enjoyable.

After an agreement has been reached on the charter amendments an election will be called, and if the amendments are adopted, Governor Gillett will be petitioned to summon the legislature in extra session in order to ratify the action taken by the municipality.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Dispatches from Pittsfield, Mass., report that Mrs. F. Parmelee Prentice, who is at Onota farm for the summer, is entertaining her father, John D. Rockefeller, and the estate is under strong guard, presumably to prevent Mr. Rockefeller being disturbed by process servers. The dispatch states that the lake front of the estate is patrolled by a launch and that a reporter who drove up to the place, which he found guarded on all sides, was informed that he could not approach the house.

Mr. Rockefeller arrived at Onota farm late Thursday night.

Marshal Henkel is endeavoring to serve subpoenas upon Mr. Rogers and W. H. Tifford, treasurer of the company, as they are in Europe.

John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller and Charles F. Pratt were expected that a day or two would be required to find them. The marshal personally served the subpoenas upon John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, William R. Howe, Charles T. White, James A. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and upon H. E. Felton of the Union Tank Line.

COURT DISTURBS PLANS OF TAFT FOR SUMMER

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The developments in Oklahoma following the court's decision in the case of Judge Pancoast's injunction restraining the officials of the constitutional convention from calling an election, with the consequent change in the date set for the Republican convention, have made Secretary Taft's plans for the summer uncertain. He will decide in a day or two whether he can speak in Oklahoma, the date set for the Republican convention, his present plan is to remain in Washington for a few days, settling his business in order and then going to his summer home at Murray Bay, Canada, for a rest.

BEST CEMENT FURNISHED AT THE LOWEST PRICES

Standard Portland Cement Co. Supplies Builders With Material at $1.75 the Barrel.

FROM TOWN TALK, JUNE 29.

Property owners, who contemplate building, are inveighing against the "cement corner" as it is called, a combination which controls foreign cement shipped into the city. It is a well-known fact that there are at least half a million barrels of cement scattered in the various water front warehouses. The actual cost to the owners was about $3 per barrel, yet it is being held at all kinds of fancy figures. In fact, the owners propose to take advantage of present local building conditions and to charge all the traffic will bear. "No wonder the people here who contemplate building are loud in their complaints over the cement situation as they see it. But there is an easy and swift way to escape being mulcted by the managers of this "cement corner," and that is to deal with the local cement manufacturers. Local builders are rapidly awakening to the fact that they can get the best of cement at low prices from the Standard Portland Cement Company. For five years this corporation has had a factory at Napa Junction with a capacity of 2500 barrels a day. So successful has its output proved that the company has been compelled to enlarge the establishment. In a few weeks it will be turning out 3000 barrels a day. Nor does the rapidly growing demand for the company's cement stop here.

ALAMEDA COUNCILMEN TO SUBMIT BIG BOND ISSUE

On Unanimous Vote Isle City Fathers Re- fuse the Granting of Another Saloon License.

ALAMEDA, June 29.—The Council last night voted to submit a bond issue to the citizens: $115,000 for the purchase of the Dunn and Taylor, or Schutzen Park tract for public park and playground; $50,000 for improvements at the electric light plant; $35,000 for the improvement of the streets; and $10,000 for the improvement of the fire department. The session last night was a committee of one, and at the regular meeting Monday night the plans will be completed. The bond issue has become necessary because of the growth of the city. The fire department is considered inadequate, improvements are needed at the municipal light plant, school buildings are in need of repair, and possibly another building may be erected, and the playground proposition has received the support of all, so that it will undoubtedly carry. The total amount of the issue would be $210,000.

All of the Councilmen favored the issuance of bonds. President of the Council, Loop, is most enthusiastic over the playground project, and there is but little doubt that the citizens will favor voting the bond issue. The finances of the city are in excellent condition, but the improvements are essential to the advancement of the city and the Council deem the present the best time to issue the bonds. The arrangements for the election may not be completed at the meeting Monday night, but a step forward will be taken and then it will be only a matter of routine.

SUGGEST COMBINATION.

There was some talk of combining an appropriation for the Webster street roadway in the issue, but Mayor Taylor stated that he thought could be done in other ways. President Loop said to the Mayor that as long as it was a campaign issue for the election to the Mayor's chair, no thought the Council would be satisfied with any other method of raising money he could have the roadway improved.

William Zingg, who operates a cigar store at 1421 Park street, and Peter Clark, who runs the restaurant on the corner, jointly made application for a liquor license, which was denied after much discussion.

STRAIN TOO GREAT

Hundreds of Oakland Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden.

The hustle and worry of business men, The hard work and stooping of workmen, The woman's household cares, Are too great a strain on the kidneys.

Backache, headache, dizziness, Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow. An Oakland citizen tells how to cure them all.

T. H. Wallace, of 115 Eleventh ave., bricklayer says: "It was so long since I had my first attack of backache that I have forgotten the year it occurred. I was always sure to have a spell when I contracted a cold from exposure to inclement weather or after an extra hard day's work. I had an attack when I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the local paper and I went for a box. In a few days the backache disappeared. I will not have the slightest hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to any of my friends and acquaintances whom I hear complaining of backache which arises from the kidneys not performing their work properly."

SITUATION OF FREIGHT CARS

While Oakland Yards Are in Good Condition Belt Line Has Congestion.

WEST OAKLAND, June 28.—The transcontinental railroads have sent across the bay to San Francisco hundreds of cars containing building materials during the last sixty days, including 150 freight cars containing window glass brought here by the Southern Pacific. There are now 40 of these carloads of glass on the belt line across the bay awaiting the action of consignees. Since many building operations in that city were halted owing to financial stringency and labor conditions, not only have merchants been slow to take freight cars, but also contractors and property owners. Superintendent John Burnham of the belt line in San Francisco complains of the consignees who do not unload freight promptly, and in speaking of this he said: "There are 40 cars of glass now on the belt line and for the last month the consignee has been unloading only two cars a day. At this rate it will take him 20 days to unload the cars we have on hand without getting in new ones. Through his slowness in unloading he is blocking up our tracks, using the cars as warehouses and we have been put to much inconvenience for the want of tracks by these cars. We have run fourteen of these cars down to East street near Jackson. I have complained to several merchants and have asked them to take delivery of their freight, and they have not paid the slightest attention to my protests. Indeed, I have gone as far as to ask them for their signs, as they are not only using the cars as warehouses, but also State property, and I suggested that they stick up their names so as to let people know their whereabouts." An entirely different condition exists in the Oakland freight yards at Fifth and Kirkham streets and on which forty or more spur tracks, which wholesalers and factories in this city handle, freight cars along side of their warehouses. As rapidly as received, cars are unloaded and the yard tracks are cleared of freight each night. In fact, the local tracks have been largely used by main-line freight trains for months, which has been an easement on the tracks in the main yards south of First street.

UTES ARE PLACED ON CHEYENNE RESERVATION

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The question of the future of the Ute Indians, who left their reservation last winter and have been held by the military at Fort Meade, has not been settled so far as the war department is concerned, according to Secretary Taft. He found that the army officers had adjusted the matter for themselves by giving the Indians enough food supplies to last them to the end of the fiscal year, placing them on the Cheyenne river south reservation and forming an Indian bureau so that they would return to its charge after that date.

PAYMASTERS MUST

PASS EXAMINATIONS
WASHINGTON, June 28.—A suggestion from the bureau of supplies and accounts, having in view greater efficiency in the use of money, has been made the subject of a special order by Secretary Taft. It provides that paymasters are not to be promoted to the grade of pay inspector unless they pass a thorough examination as to their knowledge of the duties of the office. This examination is to be particularly exhaustive in regard to the business of the general storehouse at the navy yards and stations, the duties of a paymaster of a fleet and of a purchasing officer. Pay inspectors are not required to go to sea except as paymasters of a fleet.

ALL ARE FOR PUBLIC PARK

William Walsh Voices Sentiment of His Neighbors as to Improvement.

WEST OAKLAND, June 28.—There is perfect unanimity among the residents of this section of the city in behalf of having the park lands at Wood and Eighteenth streets improved. The Park and Boulevard Committee of the City Council has recommended the adoption of Councilman Mullins' resolution appropriating $10,000 from the funds of 1907-08 for this park improvement, and the resolution is now before the Committee of the Whole Council to be considered when the budget is agreed on for the fiscal year. West Oakland residents hope there will be no sidetracking of this resolution, nor diversion of the money after it has been appropriated. Two years ago there was $10,000 so appropriated to improve the ten acres of West Oakland Park. Of this $2000 were used as intended, and the balance of $8000 was diverted to other uses. Speaking of this subject William Walsh of 1634 Fourteenth street, a pioneer and large property owner, said: "West Oakland not only asks that this park be improved as a great necessity, but its embellishment will reflect credit upon the entire city, and add much more than $10,000 to the city's worth. We are here, at the 'front gate' of Oakland, as it is called, and what would be more of an advertisement for us in the eyes of new comers, visitors, transient guests and prospective settlers than for them to see a fine park right after alighting from the cars at Sixteenth street depot?" "But aside from this we in West Oakland desire this park not only as a pleasure resort for our families, but as a refugeable other great disaster to our homes. Along the western shore line are springing up large warehouses, and factory buildings, which, if involved in a conflagration, would be the ruin of the homes in the vicinity. One has only to recall how opportunely the parks of San Francisco served, here people last year to realize what a blessing a ten-acre park might prove in the event of possible disaster here. "Ten thousand dollars is not an extravagant sum for a great city like Oakland to devote to this park improvement. Nor is it more than sufficient to properly lay out the grounds, introduce water pipes, shrubbery, etc."

KRUTTSCHNITT GOES SOUTH TO INSPECT RIVER LEVEE

General Manager Calvin Returns Here—Southern Pacific Officials Are Expecting Secretary Garfield.

WEST OAKLAND, June 28.—E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the Southern Pacific, returned yesterday from the southern part of the State, where he had been with Julius Kruttschnitt. It was thought that Kruttschnitt would return with him, but at the last moment he changed his mind and decided to go to Los Angeles, and from there will go down the desert and inspect the work performed by Randolph and Cory on the west bank of the Colorado river to curb the stream and keep the water in its own channel. The dam is standing the pressure of the June rise and every hope is entertained that the works will be strong enough to save the country from another inundation.

GARFIELD EXPECTED.
The officials of the Southern Pacific are expecting the arrival of J. R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, who will make a thorough inspection of the different reclamation projects on the coast. He will first go to Portland and examine the work that has been done at Klamath falls, and will spend July 24 and 25 in this city. He will then go to Nevada and then to the reclamation projects along the Colorado river and from there to the Roosevelt dam near Phoenix.

STICKNEY APPOINTED.
A. B. Stickney has been appointed assistant superintendent of the San Joaquin division to succeed W. H. Averill, who has been promoted. Stickney is said to be a clever operating man and for the past year has been in Chicago, where he has been employed in special work. It has been his duty to go over the different lines of the system and report on their condition to the head office. This is one of the first changes since Julius Kruttschnitt has been on his tour of inspection.

H. M. McCartney, assistant chief engineer of the Western Pacific, is on a visit to the Yosemite.

LATEST NEWS FROM ALAMEDA AND BERKELEY

HANG EFFIGY OF MINISTER

Friends of the Rev. G. H. Wilkins Indignant Over Insult Offered Him.

BERKELEY, June 29.—Although the matter has been hushed up to a considerable extent, the friends of the Rev. G. H. Wilkins, pastor of the Westminster Methodist Episcopal church of West Berkeley, are at a fever heat of indignation because of the gross insult that has been thrust upon him by unknown enemies. This offense was the recent hanging in effigy of the clergyman and the distribution of placards about the west end that were calculated to hold the minister up to ridicule.

Naturally, the minister is indignant and is at a loss to know who the offenders are. Friends of his are inclined to believe that it is the work of someone who has taken offense because the minister has so strongly opposed the sale of liquor in this city but the men who were recently engaged in the liquor business are strong in their condemnation of the atrocious act.

WILL BE TRIED FOR PASSING BOGUS CHECK

ALAMEDA, June 29.—Abe Halft, who was arrested for passing a fictitious check on I. Bernstein, a Park street merchant, was arraigned before Justice Johnson yesterday afternoon and his preliminary examination set for July 3. Little is known of Halft about town.

MANY INQUIRIES FOR REALTY IN BERKELEY

Holiday Season Has Created a Temporary Dullness, but an Active Season Is in Sight.

BERKELEY, June 29.—Just at present there is a temporary lull in real estate circles, but this is due to the customary Fourth of July dullness as much as anything else. In spite of this, however, there are many inquiries for properties and later these will develop into purchases and the summer promises to be fairly active.

There is a good demand for houses for rent and almost any old kind of house can get a tenant at a good figure. Rentals are not coming down, nor is there at present anything visible indicating that they will.

DENY POLICE DRINK ON DUTY

Chief Vollmer Declares Members of Force Carry on Thirsty Labors.

BERKELEY, June 29.—"Anyone who says that members of the Berkeley police force drink while on duty lies. I watch my men closely and I know that any statement that they do is untrue."

Chief of Police Vollmer made the above statement this morning when the charge made in the Oakland City Council last evening that blue coats of this town were in the habit of crossing the line into Oakland and patronizing bars in the neighboring city for the purpose of quenching a thirst that cannot be quenched in the College Town was called to his notice.

"When my men go into saloons in Oakland while on duty, continued the chief, "then go on business. I have gone to myself in uniform. If a man wants a drink while off duty and takes it, that's none of my business. I know my men, however, and know they are not in the habit of drinking."

POLICE BALL TEAM WANTS CHALLENGE

BERKELEY, June 29.—Several days ago, the members of the Oakland Police baseball team issued a challenge to the local police team. Bert Fraser expresses himself as greatly in favor of the match, but declares that he must receive a formal challenge before he will set a date for the contest. Owing to the small amount of practice the local have had, the game could not be pulled off for a month or more. All the members of the team are eager for a game and are anxiously awaiting the day of the first match. The Berkeley Gazette has also issued a challenge to the police team.

FORTY-FIVE WOULD BECOME GUARDSMEN

BERKELEY, June 29.—Forty-five active members have signed the roll of the proposed company of National Guardsmen of Berkeley. When the number reaches fifty or more, application will be made to Adjutant-General Lauck for admittance into the National Guard of the State. The Adjutant-General will then appoint a company commander to muster in the company.

In the meantime the members will drill each Tuesday evening under the instructions of Commander Russell. It is proposed to have the men well equipped in the manual of arms and acquainted with the various exercises before admittance is sought into the large body of National Guardsmen. Wilkins Hall has been secured for the meeting place for an indefinite period or until such time as the State can provide quarters.

SEEK SITE FOR PLAYGROUND

Alameda Women View Several Properties Which are Available for Project.

ALAMEDA, June 29.—The women of the Civic Section of the Adelphean club are taking an active interest in the public playground project and will do all in their power to bring it to a successful issue. For seven years the members of the section have agitated the need of a playground for the children and now that their work is bearing fruit they are naturally pleased.

This week five of the prominent members of the section, Mrs. C. L. Tisdale, Mrs. P. S. Teller, Mrs. Robert Wayne, Mrs. Oscar Thelme, and Mrs. H. A. Hebard, viewed the different sites now being considered. They were taken about town by O. C. Hasler in his automobile and visited both the Thompson property at High street and the Schutzen Park site at Encinal station. These are the two sites the women chose some years ago as the most available and best located properties for the needs of the city. The Thompson grounds are well adapted for a park while the Schutzen grounds are best adapted for a playground.

The women were in raptures over the beauty and advantage of both tracts and expressed their pleasure in enthusiastic terms. At present the Schutzen park grounds has the favor of the Council. Facilities for bathing are good and the fact that it is located on the waterfront gives it an added advantage over the High street property.

FORMER POPULAR SOCIETY BELLE LEAVES FOR HER NORTHERN HOME

Mrs. Charles Harlow, While Visiting in Alameda County, Was Lavishly Entertained by Society on Both Sides of San Francisco Bay.

BERKELEY, June 29.—Mrs. Charles Harlow, who before her marriage a year ago was Miss Jean Dorsch, a popular young belle in society about the bay cities has returned to her present home at Quincy after a visit of six weeks with relatives in Berkeley.

While in Alameda county she was tendered many pleasant entertainments, and it was with regret that her friends saw her leave for the northern part of the State.

Mrs. Harlow has been in the bay cities region but once since her marriage. Her husband, Charles Harlow, is an engineer associated with the Western Pacific Company. The last social event in honor of Mrs. Harlow was a theater party given the evening before her departure at a San Francisco playhouse. Mr. and Mrs. Harlow expect to return to Berkeley early in the fall to resume their residence.

EXPECT PRESIDENT WHEELER HOME

BERKELEY, June 29.—President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the State University is expected home any day. Nothing has been heard from him for several days and Mr. Griffiths thinks Dr. Wheeler is on his way home and will arrive soon. He will be accorded a hearty welcome from the Faculty and students on his arrival on account of his declaration of the offer made from Massachusetts Tech.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE MEETS AT CITY HALL

ALAMEDA, June 29.—The Real Estate Exchange members held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the city hall. REGISTRATIONS ARE UNDER AVERAGE

BERKELEY, June 29.—To date there have been 505 registrations at the Recorder's office for the summer session of the University. This is below that of last year, but indications are that the two or three weeks before the close of the sessions will find two hundred or more registered. Many are putting this off until after the meeting of the National Educational Association in Los Angeles next month.

VOLLMER TRIES TO SHIELD CORY

Fails to Report Woman's Conflict With Professor Until Suit is Filed.

BERKELEY, June 29.—Chief of Police Vollmer is handling out the mysterious "dope" to the newspapers nowadays. In a few police offices this is considered to be the right thing to do, but in the more advanced there is a clear understanding between the police officials and newspaper representatives, and harmony prevails.

On the evening of June 17, Mrs. Julia Heggerty was arrested in front of Professor Cory's home, 3227 College avenue, and taken to the police station, where she was questioned closely, then let go when Professor Cory refused to prosecute. Report on this was placed on the file book for the newspapers this morning, twelve days after the occurrence, and it is probable it would not have been the lightest publicity had not Mrs. Heggerty brought suit against Professor Cory for damages.

FRIENDS TO MEET IN Y. M. C. A. HALL

BERKELEY, June 29.—On account of the Friends' Church being moved to its new location on Fulton street, the congregation will hold their Sunday school and preaching services next Sunday morning, the 30th inst., in the city Y. They were shipped to the Sunlit Fruit Company of West Berkeley.

ALAMEDA AND THE ADJOINING COUNTIES

PROFESSOR IS NOW A TRAMP

Once Brilliant Stanford Instructor
Returns to Scenes of Former Honors.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, June 29.—M. M. Ramsey, former professor of Spanish at the university, who three years ago deserted his family and since then has been wandering over the United States as a tramp, appeared at his former home on the campus last Tuesday night, and made an attempt to see his daughter, Alice. His family still live here, and he was recognized by Mrs. Ramsey's mother, who informed him that the family had moved away some time ago. He did not recognize his mother-in-law, but continued near.

University authorities were notified of the return of the former professor and notified the Palo Alto police and sheriff. Before anything could be done, Ramsey disappeared, and since that time has only been seen once or twice in the hills back of the university. The police have been unable to capture him.

It is unlikely anything could be done unless he was arrested as a vagrant. He has not offered violence and merely insists on seeing his children. However, a close watch is being kept, and should he appear on the campus again it is likely he will be taken into custody.

Ramsey was the head of the Spanish department of the university in 1902 and 1903, and was considered one of the most brilliant men on the faculty. His health was undermined through the care he took of an aged father. He also met several reverses, after which he became addicted to the use of opiates and also became a hard drinker. Three years ago his mind began to be affected, and finally he deserted his wife and family and his work, and, giving up a brilliant future, disappeared.

Later Mrs. Young filed a cross-complaint on the ground of habitual intemperance, while the husband amended his complaint to include still other charges. The case has been in abeyance for several months pending a decision on a writ of prohibition applied for in the Appellate Court by Young after an unsuccessful effort to have the complaint dismissed.

BIG VALLEY FARMERS
FORM STRONG COMBINE
Hay Growers Organize Association Along Lines Which Will Bring Biggest Prices for Season's Yield.

STOCKTON, June 29.—The large hay growers of the west side of San Joaquin county have succeeded in forming a combination or association to handle the crop this season. They claim that heretofore the hay has been sold at such a price as they should for their feed, and now they have organized to establish a uniform price. It required a lot of work to get them to combine, but those who have organized the deal say they have practically all of the hay acreage enlisted in the scheme.

Agents have already been calling on the farmers, but they found that they would not sell for less than $15 a ton, though the new feed is not quoted as high as this figure. The crop in that section was not only heavy, but of very fine quality this year, and the growers are confident that they will secure their figures.

Just at present the lack of transportation facilities is causing some inconvenience in moving the hay crop to the warehouse and less the conditions improve a lot of the crop is liable to be damaged by the early rains. Most of the crop being moved now is transported by water, but it is impossible to begin to handle the feed in all sections in that manner.

Promptly.

STOCKTON, June 29.—The large landowners in the eastern part of San Joaquin county have organized to secure some relief from a possible overflow during the coming winter. Some preliminary steps toward forming a large drainage district, but there was so much opposition in some quarters that the proposition was abandoned. When it was seen that the Board of Supervisors were in no hurry to repair the roads damaged by the freshet of last March many of the landowners became uneasy, and now some of those who were loudest in their protest have changed their views.

BIG BUSINESS AT STOCKTON

2,000,000 Feet of Building Material Being Discharged for City's Use.

STOCKTON, June 29.—Over a half-mile of the south wharf of Stockton is lined with schooners and barges discharging lumber for the local yards. Almost 2,000,000 feet of the building material is either on the docks or in the large yards of the city.

The demand for lumber has been unusually heavy of late and the dealers, realizing that there will be a still further call on them, have been rapidly increasing their stocks. At present four vessels are en route from the coast north of San Francisco loaded with lumber for Stockton, which is the distribution point for this part of the State. The owners of schooners and barges are under contract to rush their loads to San Francisco as soon as possible, and a few of them will accept a return cargo unless it can be handled on the wharves as they are being built a bonus for moving lumber. Since the outbreak of the carpenters' strike there has been a record-breaking amount of building work in the city and the blocks in the heart of the city are under construction.

URGES WORK ON LARGE CANAL

Needham Asks the Washington
Authorities to Give Matter Attention.

STOCKTON, June 29.—Congressman J. C. Needham today telegraphed the United States Attorney-General at Washington urging him to rush matters in connection with the diverting canal east of Stockton. All the rights of way have been secured, the deeds turned over to the attorney general of California, and after an examination in turn forwarded to Washington. These proceedings were taken several weeks ago, but nothing has been heard of the canal since.

At the request of Secretary J. M. Eddy of the local Chamber of Commerce, Needham came to Stockton, and after being fully advised of the circumstances at once took up the matter with the proper officials. In all probability a surveyor will be detailed to come here at an early date and secure such data as is needed so bids can be called for and work actually commenced. This important piece of work, the money necessary to dig the big ditch has been appropriated by Congress and can be drawn on any time the red tape is removed. This fact alone before this people for several years and they would be pleased to see it completed.

FRESNO UNDER MEAT COMBINE

Last Independent Shop Goes
Down and Prices for Beef
Go Up.

FRESNO, June 29.—The last of the independent meat markets of the city has succumbed to the constant hammerings of the meat trust, and today sold out to the McHenry Meat Company, which controls the meat market in the vicinity. Within the last year meat prices have risen between 3 and 5 cents a pound on choice cuts, and the people may look for another rise as soon as the combine is complete. About a year ago Redick Brothers opened a meat department, and for several months prices were far below the actual cost of cattle on foot. It is the company's belief that the McHenry Company was behind this move, for soon Redicks were buying all of its meat from the McHenry Company and prices began to soar.

A few markets maintained their independence and refused to buy from the McHenry Company. But their independence was short lived, and one by one they gave in to the trust. A few weeks ago a pretense was made at opening a new shop, and he news was given out that prices would be cut to nothing to force the remaining independents to come in. They finally gave in, and now the last shop has sold out to the trust, and Fresno is in the grasp of a tremendous meat combine. William Faber declares his intention of bucking the trust and starting an independent shop on J street.

Mother's Friend

Mr. Heney's Reform Activities.

Mr. Francis Joseph Heney has earned the thanks and plaudits of a grateful people not only by routing and punishing political corruption but by his salutary reformation of court procedure. How he has restored honest government by subjecting a band of penitent thieves to his will is current history, but it is not so well known that while engaged in purging the town of official malfeasance, he has stripped judicial process of some mouldy conceits and made the conviction of criminals a simple, direct and easy matter. He has summarily brushed away the legal cobwebs spun in the temple of justice, and put to flight a lot of musty theories and fly-blown safeguards heretofore thrown around persons accused of crime.

For one thing, Mr. Heney has established the doctrine that criminals have no rights that courts are bound to respect. He has reversed the hoary maxim of the law that a person accused of crime is presumed to be innocent till found guilty. Finding this legal axiom an obstacle to the swift course of justice, he crossed it out and will probably have it expurgated from the law books when he has completed his self-appointed task of sending to jail all the boddlers who have not repented and enlisted in the cause of civic righteousness, and whipped all the attorneys so abandoned as to contend that criminals have rights. "What's the constitution betwixt friends?" asked that eminent Tammany statesman, Tim Campbell. "What's the law betwixt honest men and thieves?" demands Mr. Heney.

When the law gets in the path of scoundrels going to prison without delay and of the work of political purification, Mr. Heney kicks it out of the way and goes ahead in a business-like manner. Guilty men are brought into court to be convicted and punished. That is what they are there for and that is what Mr. Heney brings them to trial for. Having proved the accused guilty before arraignment, Mr. Heney is impatient of delays and anxious to get over the formalities of finding a verdict and committing the malefactors to prison. Seeing only snares for justice in precedents and technicalities (which are reserved for the exclusive use of the innocent), Mr. Heney chops through them as brushwood in the highway of progress.

By doing so he has effected a great reform in judicial methods and legal procedure. He has reduced trial by jury to a mathematical certainty, and removed all reasonable doubt of conviction.

And Mr. Heney has gone still further in making the course of justice plain, smooth and unobstructed. He has put lawyers who have the effrontery to appear for criminals in their proper place as apologists for thieves and malefactors. Such shameless practitioners he regards as outside the pale of respect, and he treats them with the obloquy and contempt their conduct deserves. They and their law have no claim to consideration in his eyes, so firmly are they fixed on a high moral purpose, and in the vigorous fashion so characteristic of him he makes them feel the dishonor and shame of their position. He gives them to clearly understand that their presence is an impertinence and an evidence of evil intent. Their insolence in presuming to interpose technicalities in defense of villains never fails of receiving the scathing rebuke it merits.

In this way Mr. Heney is curing indecency in the legal profession as well as ridding justice of the mesh of rules, maxims, axioms, alleged principles and modes of judicial procedure in which it has become enveloped. He is reforming the lawyers as well as politics and the rascals, and amending the law so as to render conviction speedy and sure. After making an honest man and a model official of James L. Gallagher, Mr. Heney does not despair of reforming the lawyers without resorting to the drastic expedient of hanging, as was suggested by Jack Cade. If he can reform the law, why not the prophets?

Attorney Moore should take Mr. Heney's hot reproof in good part. He should not twit on facts in courtroom pleasantries.

The newspapers are still cogitating over the New York World's conundrum, "What is a Democrat?" When that puzzle is solved, if it ever is, it will be time to take up that still more perplexing problem, "Why is a Democrat?"

French Chamber Backs Clemenceau

For the second time Premier Clemenceau has asked the French Chamber of Deputies a vote of confidence for the government in regard to its course in suppressing the peasant revolt in the southern provinces, and for the second time it has been given by a decisive majority. The last majority is 120, larger by 16 than the first. This vote dispels the notion that the Chamber of Deputies would endorse open resistance to the laws, mutiny of the troops, destruction of government property and refusal to pay taxes. Such things are merely the initial stages of a condition of anarchy. They could not be permitted. If the government was not to fall to pieces, the Clemenceau ministry must be supported. Whatever faults are chargeable to it in other matters, its efforts to restore order and assert the national authority expressed a paramount public duty. While the condition of the unhappy peasantry in the southern vine-growing districts calls for commiseration and perhaps relief, the government could not permit ignorant mobs to defy the laws and overturn the social order. If allowed, such things would only aggravate the distress of the vinegrowers, for which the present government is not responsible. The ministry could not permit the rioting to continue without confessing its unfitness to govern and its inability or unwillingness to maintain order. The national legislature has declared that order must be maintained and has strengthened by the hands of Clemenceau in the measures taken to maintain it. The lesson is a good one. Order is the first and indispensable requisite of stable government, and obedience to constituted authority is imperative if constitutional rule is to endure. The authority itself or the manner of its exercise may subsequently be called to account by the electorate, but it cannot be set aside by mobs led by incendiary leaders.

Like Senator La Follette, Governor Cummins of Iowa has declared himself out of the Senatorial race, and has come out for a third term for Roosevelt. As the President has repeatedly declared he would not run again, and has nominated Secretary Taft as his successor, one is at a loss to understand why Cummins and La Follette, who have been regarded as aspirants for the mantle and staff of Elijah, should join the third-term shooters at this juncture. Their attitude raises the suspicion that they are for Roosevelt himself—nominally, at least—but opposed to his legate. If Roosevelt will not run, and they are against Taft, who are they for? The guess is not a hard one.

have these 'refugee camps' become an eyesore, but they have degenerated into soft snaps for an army of bummers, male and female—not to mention the fact that they are hotbeds of immorality.—Sacramento Bee.

THE TRIBUNE showed up the character of the refugee camps many months ago, and pointed out the demoralizing effect they were having on morals and self-respect. But it was abused for its pains. Some people seemed to think cultivating idleness and mendicancy under conditions which bred vicious habits and sexual depravity was a good thing for society and a blessing to the poor. Owing to the misdirected philanthropy of such persons, large sums were expended to produce vagrants and prostitutes.

Unfair Law Enforcement.

How the instrumentalities of the law can be employed to serve very shabby and unjust ends has been given an apt illustration in Pasadena, where Mrs. Elizabeth Farr, proprietor of the Capitola hotel, was arrested a few days ago for selling liquor in violation of a municipal ordinance. Mrs. Farr leases the hotel from R. A. Graham, who ran for State Senator on the Prohibition ticket at the last election.

That Mrs. Farr violated the ordinance is not denied, but the action of the authorities in arresting her under the circumstances was plainly due to unjust motives. The Pasadena city authorities allow guests at the Hotel Raymond to be served at meals with wine, beer and other alcoholic drinks. Mrs. Farr deemed that she had an equal right, which she did, here morally, to serve her guests with liquors at meals. Her place is entirely respectable, and it was not claimed that any impropriety had occurred. Nevertheless she was fined $200.

She is clearly the victim of discrimination if not persecution. She was not legally justified, of course, in breaking the law, but a law so grossly unfair and so discriminating in favor of one particular hotel or individual is not entitled to respect even if it can claim obedience. The Hotel Raymond is given the exclusive privilege of serving liquor in Pasadena, and the city authorities go to an extreme to insure the privilege against infringement. Laws so unfair in letter and enforced in such a partisan spirit deserve the hearty contempt of honest-minded people. They bear the impress of the pharisee and hypocrite, and as such merit condemnation.

LOVING WIVES CURTAIL FREEDOM OF HUSBANDS

English Lecturer at State Summer School Turns New Light on Subject of Domestic Happiness:

BERKELEY, June 29.—Loving wives are a restriction on a man's freedom, according to Professor John Adams of the University of London, who is a prominent member of the faculty of the summer school here. He lectured yesterday morning on "The Basis of Discipline," and declared, among other things in an interesting discourse, that men remain conventional and often refrain from bizarre ideas or practices because of the respect they feel for their wives, and because they desire to avoid offending a loving companion.

The conventions of modern life constitute part of the necessary discipline for men, according to Dr. Adams. The idea that originality is a valuable thing is not concurred in by the English savant. Conventions he regards as a form of discipline, and valuable discipline. Said Dr. Adams:

"We cannot have too much convention within certain limits. We are too apt to think in this day that we must be original. Originality is well enough in its place, but who will say that a man should have an original way of dressing himself in the morning or of going to his bath? It may be said that freedom is lost when conventionalities are adhered to, but the loss of freedom may represent discipline. A loving wife limits her husband's freedom, because he is often kept in conventional paths, where discipline is observed, out of respect for his wife's wishes.

"It may be said that conventional ideas and practices are inspired by the lower part of the brain, where mechanical movements originate. Our real living comes from the activity of the upper part of the brain, and the more work we can relegate to the lower brain, the more freedom we shall enjoy, and the aim of discipline will in part have been achieved."

CROCHET HISTORY

The art of crochet is quite a modern invention. It was devised by a French-Spanish woman named Mlle. Reigo early in the nineteenth century. The idea came to her from seeing the harvesters making a chain of straws with the point of their reaping-hooks wherewith to bind over their ricks and keep their sheaves together. She procured a small hook and tried what she could do with a similar chain in fine cotton, and by degrees she evolved the whole art of crochet. Mlle. Reigo's designs are still among the most beautiful to be had. At the Black Rock convent, Dublin, many of the patterns that she originally taught the nuns there some three-quarters of a century ago are still in use, and are among the most favored by modern purchasers. Her crochet designs often exactly reproduce the pattern of the fine antique laces, such as old point d'alencon and point d'angleterre. In some of the designs, indeed, the crochet motifs are arranged in their order on tissue-paper and joined together by the needle in true point lace style.

SWEETHEARTS MARRY AFTER BEING PARTED FIFTY YEARS

Courtship Began Before Civil War and Old Flame Burned Brightly Through Half a Century.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 29.—Though almost half a century has passed since they saw each other, a romance of long ago has been revived and in a few days Mrs. H. M. Stevens of Portland will leave for Glimmer, Tex., to marry J. N. Hopper, the sweetheart of her childhood days. Mrs. Stevens is a well-known clubwoman here and her prospective groom is a prosperous merchant. He is 68 and she is five years his junior. The courtship began near Aurora, Ill., before the Civil War, where their families owned adjoining farms. Mrs.

Stevens, whose name was then Pierce, became engaged to Hopper, but they were forced to give up their plans by her father, who favored another suit. Since that time Hopper and Mrs. Stevens have never seen each other. Both were married, but her husband and his wife have died, and it was by sheer accident that the lovers became reunited. Mrs. Stevens recently happened to read in a paper of the death of a sister of Mr. Hopper. She wrote a letter of sympathy to another sister, who forwarded it to Mr. Hopper. Their friendship was resumed and their wedding will occur next week.

BACHELOR MAXIMS

Many a beautiful hat represents an unpaid milliner's bill. The pin is mightier than the sword—in the hands of a woman. Spinsterhood is often the flit's punishment for contempt of court. Some women see nothing attractive in this world without the aid of a mirror. To a woman there is nothing so uninteresting as a man in love with some other woman. No burglar who is wise ever tries to rob a house where there are six unmarried daughters. There is something the matter with a woman when she is willing to let a man do all the talking. If men knew all that women think they would be twenty times more audacious. If a girl has a handsome set of teeth she never worries about her mouth being big.

PITTSBURG? WHAT! DIVORCE? SURE!!

Mention of Smoky City Millionaire by Husband Enough Evidence, Rules Chicago Judge.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Fresh distinction of a certain sort was conferred upon Pittsburgh millionaires recently by Judge McEwen, and it is his ruling is good all that will be necessary to obtain a divorce in his court is to name one of them as co-respondent.

A. O. Gressing, a traveling salesman, was suing his wife, Elsie Gressing, for a divorce. Frank Graham McKelvy, of Pittsburgh, son of W. H. McKelvy, the multi-millionaire president of the Alpha Portland Cement Company, was named as the cause of Ewen, "to have a corroborative witness in these cases, but where a Pittsburgh millionaire, or a scion of one of those families, is mentioned in a divorce case, I think it is sufficient to convince the court that a decree should be given. Write up the evidence and I will grant a decree."

Photographs taken in Paris and Monte Carlo showing Mrs. Gressing in the company of young McKelvy, were offered in evidence. It was also shown that Mrs. Gressing had appeared on the stage under the name of Nora Bayes.

MARRY?---NO! CHILDREN?---A SIN!

By NINA CARTER

When Joshua Bailey, registered in the Christian Science Journal as teacher and healer, received men in his apartment at 2413 Broadway, New York, it was as one who came to inquire into his religion with a view to study, and his advice was given to me on such grounds.

I explained to Mr. Bailey that I had become much interested in Christian Science, but also contemplated marriage. I told him that I had been led to understand that Scientists did not believe in marriage, because it interfered with a perfect pursuit of that study. This being the case, I desired to understand just what the position was before either marrying or taking up Science.

Mr. Bailey, old, nearly eighty, gray-haired and shaking from infirmity, waited long before answering, then in a voice well calculated to impress he said:

"My dear young lady, you are about to take a most serious step. Do you know anything of Christian Science? No? Well, then, you must understand, first of all, that all is mind; that there is no matter; God is love. You must understand these things as Scientists understand them; and for that you must study hard."

Mr. Bailey then proceeded to read some passages from "Science and Health." When I again pressed the question of my intended marriage he said most softly:

"Come to me again, my dear. Come to me when you have read this book," forcing a copy of "Science and Health" on me. "Tell no one that I gave you this book. Do not say a word about it. Why? Leave that to me; you will discover later on. But read, read, read, day and night, and then come to me again."

"But," I insisted, "I must know about this before I go down town."

Mr. Bailey looked rather sharply at me; he considered for some five minutes, and then spoke again:

"You are all a lie. Your very existence is a derstand that there is no material body, but that all—all is spiritual. You will then perceive that there can be no marriage here on earth. That marriage is a sin. There is only one marriage—that is with God. I am looking forward to that marriage. I have been through the world, I know all about it, and now I am atoning for my sins.

"Remember, every sin must be answered for before your Creator. Will you have this greatest of all sins to answer for? Marriage is lustful; this is a sin.

"A spiritual marriage, one of the mind, is different. But there is no marriage of the sexes. When you understand that, and that the study you wish to pursue is one of the soul, of mind, of God, then you can answer the question, 'Will I sin if I marry?' with one word. I will not say what that word is. I will leave that to your spirit to decide."

With this Mr. Bailey raised his hand and held it above his head, as though trying to evoke some spirit to answer. Then he continued.

"You ask me about children. What can I say but that they are the outward manifestation of sin? That is the truth. A child is the example of the parents' sin. The child is a very lie in the beginning. You acknowledge that man is God-made. Then what a blasphemy it is for you to suppose that it is possible through a human form to bring a child into the world. The very birth is a lie.

Children are only continuations of this sin—this lie of humanity. Consider well. In leading a life of purity and devotion to God you are taking a higher step. You are ascending. In marrying, in yielding to the temptations of humanity, you are drawing away from the divine, you are going farther and farther from the light, you are sinking into darkness. Consider well which it shall be. It is for you to decide."

"But you advise against marriage?"

"I have told you what will happen on both sides of the question. If you would live a lie—marry. If you would live in the spirit and truth—

BEST FIELD FOR WOMEN WORKERS IS REAL ESTATE

Successful Operator Tells How She Made Excellent Living by New York Property.

NEW YORK, June 29.—"The best field for a woman wishing to earn a living is real estate," said Mrs. M. Enola Alexander, who has been in the business almost five years and has made more than a comfortable living. "It is a little less than five years since I was left a widow without money or business training and went to work."

"My first step was to ask a letter of introduction to a real estate dealer from a rich woman friend of mine."

"He tossed me a list of houses in which he had never been able to keep tenants and told me to look them over and see what was the matter with them, why the people wouldn't stay. When I came back and gave my report he looked me over and gave a grunt of approval."

"At the end of the month I told my employer that I had decided to try working for myself."

"When I made that venture alone I was living in a hall bedroom of a boarding house and my business equipment consisted of a table, a writing pad, a fountain pen and the daily papers."

"Before the end of the first month of going it alone I made a sale of a piece of property on Riverside drive for $50,000."

"The next year I moved into an office of my own and since then it has been a steady uphill climb. I made three rules when beginning business for myself—to be always honest, to lose a sale rather than the good will of a client, and to handle only respectable houses."

"A woman's knowledge of the details of a home makes it easy for her to see the defects in houses as well as their advantages. That is an advantage a woman has over a man in this business."

"When it comes to making sales that is another matter. While a knowledge of detail may not be necessary, both buyers and sellers like to feel that their business is being handled by an honest agent."

"Another point in woman's favor as a real estate agent is her neatness."

"Then, too, women are more courteous as inspectors of real estate than the men employed for the same purpose. I have seen a man inspector tramp through an apartment with a lighted cigar in his mouth and without taking the trouble of removing his hat."

"It is through fear of these offensive habits in the average man who makes an application for such work that I make a point of employing only women inspectors."

"For the same reason I employ a woman lawyer and a woman printer."

"Now I know that I shall make a success, and I advise other women to strike out and get similar agencies. It is a good field for women and good women are needed in it."

MAID OF HONOR

Lady Walrond, the wife of General Sir William Walrond, M. P., described at a dinner party in Boston the life of a maid of honor.

"One of my friends," she said, "was a maid of honor to Queen Victoria. She spent a part of each winter at San Remo, where I have a villa, and one January afternoon at the Sports Club, as we were taking tea under an orange tree, a gentleman said to her:

"How interesting your life as a maid of honor must be! And what a delightful diary you must be able to keep!"

"No," said the maid of honor, "that is impossible. The queen makes it a condition that we keep no diaries while at court."

"Ah," said the gentleman, laughing, "I think I should keep a very secret one, all the same."

"Then," said my friends, with a grave smile, "I'm afraid you would not be a maid of honor."—Cleveland Leader.

SUES HUSBAND'S AUNT FOR ALIENATING HIS AFFECTIONS

Sixty-Year-Old Relative Accused by Wife of Destroying the Happiness of Her Home.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Mrs. Sallie M. Higham, who lives at 3341 Amber street, was sued in the Court of Common Pleas yesterday by Mary E. Hearn, who demands $10,000 for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Eschol Hearn, a produce dealer on North Second street, who lives in 501 Brown street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hearn were married on November 1, 1895, and went to the home of Mrs. Higham, a widow, who is Mrs. Hearn's paternal aunt, to live. Mrs. Hearn claims that she soon began to notice familiarity between her husband and Mrs. Higham. She says that her husband, in her presence, caressed Mrs. Higham, took her to theaters, pleasure resorts, and once on a trip to Atlantic City. She declares that her husband became indifferent to her, and that she was forced to leave him on April 1 last.

HUSBAND BOARDED WITH AUNT.

Mr. Hearn boarded with his aunt for ten years before his marriage, but, because of the trouble with the wife, he and Mrs. Hearn left there seven weeks ago and went to the Brown street address. From this place Mrs. Hearn disappeared several weeks ago, leaving a note saying that she was going to her brother's. Her whereabouts are unknown.

Mrs. Higham, when informed of the suit against her, said yesterday:

"This is the silliest thing I have ever heard of. Eschol is my own brother's child, and I have been a mother to him ever since he came to Philadelphia. It is true that he caressed me, and also that he took me to Atlantic City in company with two other gentlemen, but I fall to see where any harm comes in through that."

"My nephew is 30 years old, and his wife is 26. She was Miss Mary E. Vaughn before her marriage, and was employed as a saleswoman in a department store. She has complained ever since her marriage of having to do the lightest kind of housework, and is insanely jealous. I also consider her a crank. I don't think much will come of this suit. I am a poor widow, and would have trouble raising 10,000 cents at short notice."

THE MEDDLER

MISS ALLEN A WEDDING

The most important social event of the week was the wedding of Mr. Charles Tripler Hutchinson and Miss Gertrude Allen, which took place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening. It was one of the most notable weddings of the year, owing to the social prominence of both families and to the fact that the bride is so deeply beloved by her friends.

No bride has ever gone forth to her own home upon whom more affection was bestowed, and no bride carried away more good wishes for her happiness than sweet, unselfish Gertrude Allen. Hers is a character so rare, so genuine and sincere, so noble, that it brings to the surface that which is good in others, and one felt the deep affection for the bride which characterized this special wedding.

Mr. Hutchinson is such a fine fellow, so manly, so strong and straightforward, that many congratulations went out to him on the happy occasion of his wedding.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ray Allen, and is one of the most attractive girls of the social set of Oakland. She is a charming girl, with sweet, well-bred ways, and always so perfectly groomed that she makes a lovely picture whenever one meets her.

Mrs. Allen has the most exquisite taste, and it has always been her pride and joy to plan for her only daughter. Though she has been ill for many months, and often her horizon is bounded by the walls of her room, her sweet, true influence has gone far beyond it and found a helpful reflection in the lives of her friends.

She has taken the greatest interest in her daughter's young friends, and the many entertainments at the Allen home have owed much of their charm to the careful planning and artistic taste of the sweet, unselfish mother of the home.

And so it was that the wedding of Miss Allen and Mr. Hutchinson was one of the most beautiful weddings we have had this year, with every detail so perfectly planned that the whole made up a series of wedding pictures very charming, beautifully artistic, and full of heart.

The Allen home on Jackson street was a splendid study in decoration, carrying out for the most part a color scheme of pink.

Gorgeous Chinese lanterns lighted the way up the steps and on the veranda, and inside the house the most charming designs were successfully carried out.

Lovely arbors of sweet peas in artistic arches and dainty wedding bells in white and pink outlined the way to the music room, where the wedding ceremony was performed.

The entire room was a lovely bower in masses of gorgeous ascension lilies. They depended from the ceiling and made a beautiful wedding bower for the bride and groom. The whole effect was wonderfully charming.

The dining room was a lovely study—a splendid picture made up of hundreds of Cecil Bruner roses. A great umbrella, all made of the pale pink roses, depended from the ceiling over the bride's table. At each place was a small Japanese umbrella, completely covered with Cecil Bruner roses, making one of the daintiest and most effective bride's tables of the year.

There were unique straw hats for the men, filled with cigarettes, as favors, and for the girls there were hats of unique and original designs. The bride's table, with its background of Cecil Bruner roses, was charming.

In the hall and on the main mantelpiece the decorations were carried out in strong effects, with great baskets overflowing with flowers, the color tones being deep reds and yellows. The decorations were striking, original and exceedingly beautiful.

When the guests were all assembled at nine o'clock, one heard the music by the orchestra of the wedding march from Lohengrin. The refrain was taken up by the vested choir of boys from Christ church in Alameda, and they led the wedding procession, singing beautifully as they took their way through the large rooms. "Faithful and true"—over and over again the refrain was sung by the choir boys, who made a charming picture in white surplices, as they walked slowly through the rooms, leading the wedding procession.

They were followed by pretty Bernice Brownell, the flower girl, who led the bridesmaids, the Miss Claire Converse, Marietta Havens, Claire Chabot, Edith Selby, Bessie Palmer, Edith Marwede and Ruth Knowles.

Following them were Mrs. Irving Lundborg, the matron of honor, and Miss Christine Taft, the maid of honor, and then came the bride, very beautiful in her exquisite wedding gown.

They were met by the groom, Charles Hutchinson, and his best man, Mr. Mark Requa.

the maid of honor, Miss Taft, pulled a string, whereupon the large wedding bell opened, showering the bride and groom with masses of lovely pink rose leaves.

And the friends who stood near them wished from their hearts that life's pathway for them might indeed be strewn always with rose leaves!

The wedding party made a beautiful picture standing under the superb canopy of ascension lilies. The center of the group was the bride, looking radiant and happy, and the bridegroom, proud of the bride, and accepting the many congratulations in a hearty fashion that was charming.

The bride's gown was one of the most artistic of the year; it was of bridal veiling over white satin, the veiling giving to the satin a light effect that was most becoming to the bride, who is a slender girl.

The wedding robe was superbly trimmed in duchesse lace. All over the skirt were garlands of embroidered roses; in the center of each was a medallion of duchesse lace.

The bodice was entirely of lace, and was beautifully made.

The long veil of tulle fell quite to the edge of the gown, and was fastened with a knot of orange blossoms. For ornament she wore the gift of the bridegroom, a large circle of diamonds.

The wedding bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Miss Christine Taft, the maid of honor, was gowned in white, the corsage trimmed in white lace, and she made a very stunning picture indeed, carrying a great armful of ascension lilies.

Mrs. Irving Lundborg was also a stunning picture—she is tall and very handsome; she looked exceedingly well in a gown showing pink effects, and she carried a lovely basket of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike, all wearing pretty gowns of pink silk mull. The bodices were trimmed with lace, and they wore very fascinating veils of short pink tulle, the latter fastened with dainty wreaths of pink roses.

Each bridesmaid carried a basket of pink bridesmaid's roses, the basket trimmed with a large bow of pink tulle.

After the ceremony there was an informal reception, when all the friends and relatives offered good wishes to the bride and hearty congratulations to the groom, and later in the evening a very elaborate wedding supper was served. A very jolly company of young people was seated at the bride's table, and there was much merriment over the favors in the bride's cake. Fate sent the penny to Miss Marietta Havens, so she will be rich in the days to come, and the ring in the cake went to Miss Ruth Knowles.

One of the favors went to Mrs. Irving Lundborg, and the bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Ruth Knowles. The bride's gifts to the attendants were beautiful pins—they followed the design of wild roses, with pearls for the center, and outer pearls, the pearls enameled in exquisite pastel shades.

There was plenty of rice waiting for the bride and groom when they took their departure, and the bride was the center of a most beautiful picture as she left the house. Her going-away gown was in brown, and she wore with it a wide picture hat in brown, trimmed in gorgeous pink ostrich plumes. As she stood on the steps two attendants lighted bright red Chinese fires—in the center of which stood the bride beautifully outlined, making a most charming picture.

She threw to those about her a big bouquet, which broke up into fifty smaller ones, and were favors to those fortunate enough to get them. The bride and groom drove away in a carriage elaborately decorated with ascension lilies.

The gifts were very elaborate, and completely filled one of the rooms. Mrs. Allen's gift to her daughter was a superb diamond pendant, and there was much jewelry, a bracelet and pins being especially attractive. There was much cut glass, Bohemian glass, rugs, and all the exquisite gifts which later go to make a home beautiful and attractive, and one is sure beforehand of the happy home over which Mrs. Hutchinson will preside.

Many beautiful gowns were seen at the wedding. Mrs. Allen made an exquisite picture in a dainty gown of pale blue messaline, the corsage beautifully trimmed in lace. She was a sweet, cordial hostess who made all the many guests welcome at her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Hutchinson, the mother of the groom, was handsomely gowned in black spangled net, and she wore diamond ornaments.

Among the most beautiful of the guests was Mrs. William G. Henshaw; she is quite the most stunning woman in any company where she happens to be.

At the wedding she wore a Paris gown in lavender tones. It was beautifully trimmed in lace and worn with magnificent jewelry.

Two brides received the good wishes of their friends all over again, Mrs. George Jensen, formerly Anita Oliver, and Mrs. Herbert Brown, formerly Florence Sharon Allen.

Mrs. Jensen wore her wedding gown, of white satin, beautifully trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Brown wore a tulle gown showing charming yellow effects.

Among the wedding guests were two brides-elect, Miss Alla Henshaw and Miss Bessie Coghill.

Miss Henshaw is a most charming girl, like her mother in many ways, with sweet, unaffected manners. She was a dainty picture in a French gown of pink spangled net.

Miss Bessie Coghill wore a gown of pink messaline, very prettily made, and trimmed in lace.

Mrs. L. L. Brown wore an exceedingly handsome gown of pale gray chiffon, elaborately trimmed in lace. She is always so bright and entertaining that she is a welcome guest everywhere. One did not wonder that she was very proud of her attractive little daughter, dainty little Bernice Brownell.

Mrs. Mark Requa wore a gown of flowered silk, the corsage trimmed in lace, and her ornaments were diamonds.

Miss Florence Selby was gowned in pink, the gown showing flowered effects, and she wore a handsome necklace of pearls.

Mrs. Frank L. Brown was gowned in white, the bodice showing an elaborate bertha of lace.

Mrs. George H. Wheaton wore one of the new effects in black and white shades, and was, as usual, a most attractive picture. Her gown was elaborately trimmed in rare lace and she wore diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Arthur Geisler, formerly Carol Moore, who is here from Chicago on a visit, wore a handsome gown of white satin, trimmed in lace.

Among the guests were Miss Mary Dunham and Mrs. Langdon, the latter formerly Ruth Dunham. The Dunhams lived here for many years, and their home on Alice street used to be the center of much social activity. They are not often in Oakland, but when they come are always cordially welcomed by old friends.

Miss Dunham was gowned in black spangled net, the bodice decollete, with diamond ornaments.

Mrs. Robert Phelps was elaborately gowned in white lace, and a very effective white lace gown was also worn by Mrs. Frederick Diekmann.

Miss Katherine Brown wore a very handsome gown of pink silk. It was appliqued in white roses and trimmed in black velvet.

Miss Ruth Houghton made a most attractive picture in a gown of pink flowered chiffon, daintily trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Edwin Adams wore a pompadour gown, beautifully trimmed in lace. Her ornaments were diamonds.

roses in the corsage, and red roses in her hair.

Miss Clarice Lohse was a very dainty study in a gown of pale lavender silk with orchids.

Miss May Coogan wore a very becoming gown in tones of pink. Her bodice was decollete and trimmed with handsome lace.

Among the most beloved of all the young matrons is Mrs. Bernard Miller, who was formerly Mae Burdge. She is very pretty indeed, but best of all are her cordial manners and her unaffected gladness in meeting her old friends.

Mrs. Miller was gowned in pale pink messaline, beautifully trimmed in lace.

Pretty Rose Kales came from Ross Valley for the wedding, and she was a very charming study indeed in a gown of white net over pink messaline.

Mrs. George S. Wheaton wore a most becoming gown of blue messaline, very attractively trimmed in lace.

Mrs. Eugene Hewlett, formerly Miss Irene Fore, made a very stunning picture in a Marie Antoinette costume in pale pink and blue. Her ornaments were diamonds, and she wore long pink and blue ostrich plumes in her hair.

Miss Natalie Fore was in white messaline, elaborately made. She wore in her hair long white ostrich plumes and striking rhine stone ornaments.

Mrs. Mollie Gamers wore a gown of pale gray crepe de chine. The skirt and bodice were trimmed in negligee shirt open at the throat and breast displaying an unnecessary amount of more or less hairy chest. He also wears his sleeves rolled up to the shoulder. Such personal displays are not only in bad taste but are unpleasant. A few seasons ago two very prominent San Francisco society women were stopping with their children at Lakeport where many of these men were staying. At last the ladies could stand it no longer.

They took a large sheet of hotel paper and on it they printed in bold black characters, "Gentlemen will please wear coats at table." This notice had the desired effect and thereafter hirsute displays were less frequent until the ladies departed. The women at the Springs did not mind.

POPULARITY OF YOSEMITE.

Not for years has Yosemite been as popular as this year. The valley is crowded with well known people and in spite of stage robbers the stages and trains are crowded to capacity on every trip. Only very timid people object to road agents. Since no one is ever hurt it is worth while spending a little spare change just for the experience. It is safe to say that Yosemite travelers are not carrying pockets full of gold or greenbacks and that women are leaving their jewels at home. One reason for the rush Yosemitewards this year is the fact that the falls are fuller than for several seasons past.

Only last week there was a snow storm in the valley and everything was covered with white. During the cold snap the falls almost stopped running as they do, in winter when they are frozen—all except the Nevada fall, of course. The snow plants are perfectly gorgeous this year and they seldom last as late as this but will be in their prime this year even in July. The trails are all repaired and open, and many parties are planning to go even as late as September when the valley puts on its autumn colorings.

Among those in the valley at present are Mrs. Philip Landsdale, Miss Sydney-Smith and Miss Bertha Sydney-Smith who are there for a several weeks' stay. Miss Laura McKinstry is soon to go into the valley with a party.

EUROPEAN TRAVELERS.

But the glory of Yosemite pales before the attractions of European travel. Mrs. Lucie May Hayes and Miss Jennie Dunphy sailed on a Cunarder a week or more ago and are now in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Curtiss and Mr. and Mrs. Pond have run down to Italy to travel for awhile before it gets too warm. Later they will return to Paris and will "do" Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. James Flood are in Paris and, by the way, Parisian hotels are so crowded that the Floods are unable to obtain accommodations. Just think of that—American millionaires homeless in Paris!

At last writing Miss Jennie Blair was in Paris with her friend, Mrs. Ella Hotelling.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sperry are in Switzerland and Mr. W. Frank Pierce is in Brussels on a three months' trip, part business and part pleasure. Mr. Pierce's daughters did not accompany him but are spending the summer in the mountains.

Mrs. Charles D. Pierce is in San Francisco for a few days, having come up from the Pierce ranch on the San Joaquin river near Stockton for shopping purposes. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Russ, and is staying at the Little Palace.

RUMORED CLOSING OF THE FAIRMONT.

There was a rumor that the Fairmont was to close during the summer while more rooms were completed and until the "California" street cars were running again. The stopping of this care line seriously crippled the hotel. The rumor is said, however, to be baseless as a hundred more rooms have just been thrown open for occupancy and a large wedding reception is scheduled for the evening of July 2. This is the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Estelle Sheehan and Bernard Shorb. The wedding will take place at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening of next week at St. Mary's Cathedral and the wedding reception from half after eight to eleven will be held at the Fairmont.

Mr. Shorb is the brother of Mrs. Ynez Shorb White and is a handsome and popular fellow.

The wedding will be a large affair.

COMINGS AND GOINGS.

Mr. Richard Hotelling took a party in two automobiles through Lake county this week. Last week he entertained an automobile party at Santa Cruz. Among his guests on both occasions were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conkle, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton.

In New York. On their return they will be accompanied by their son, William Crocker, Jr., who is at school at Groton. The other children are at Burlingame. The entire family will spend August at Del Monte.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Deering will spend July on the McCloud river as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Whitney. The Whitneys have a charming country home on this beautiful river where there is no hotel, the entire river being held in private ownership. Among those who own places along the McCloud are the Charles Wheelers, who spend every summer there; Mrs. Hearst, who will spend part of this summer there; W. F. Whittier, Arthur L. Whitney, Warren Olney, Will Magee and Henry Crocker.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bowles and their children are in Paris. They are having a delightful time abroad, much of their time being spent in automobiling, a sport of which they are very fond.

ON RUSSIAN RIVER.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott and Miss Adele Scott are camping on the Russian river, in their old location, Eagle Nest camp. They will be there during July and will entertain many of their friends. The Scotts used to go to the Russian river every summer but have not been there for the past two or three years.

Mrs. Henry K. Field will not camp on the river this year as she had planned. For the present Mrs. Field and her family will occupy the Paris street home in Alameda, though the house is for sale.

METCALF'S GIVE A DINNER.

While the Jamestown Exposition is not a success, all the foreign powers are being represented in a naval way.

In Washington, the minister from Norway, Mr. Hauge, has been entertaining Captain Dahl, commanding the Norwegian man-of-war, which has just arrived in American waters en route to Jamestown.

Mr. Hauge gave a dinner in honor of the visiting officers on Saturday evening, and Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Metcalf gave a large dinner for them on Monday evening.

MISSSES CRELLIN ARE HOME.

The Korea brought from the Orient Miss Mona and Miss Jane Crellin, who have been away from Oakland two years. They spent many months in Europe, traveling leisurely abroad, seeing the continent in the best possible way. Both of the travelers had been abroad before, so they knew how to arrange the best possible itinerary.

Miss Jane Crellin in her school days spent a year on the continent, traveling with Mrs. Poulson. The Misses Crellin returned to California by way of the Orient, and a warm welcome from relatives and many friends awaited their happy home-coming.

PAYMASTER TO REMAIN.

All the many friends of the Nicholson family are delighted to hear that Paymaster Nicholson is not to be ordered from this coast. He has been on the Independence at Mare Island and has now been assigned to duty on the South Dakota, which goes into commission soon, and is to be stationed at Mare Island. The South Dakota will belong to the Pacific Coast Squadron.

SOCIETY PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. William Letts Oliver, who have been at Del Monte and in the south for some time, returned to town on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen are cozily established in their picturesque bungalow on Vernon Heights. They bid fair to develop a most interesting home in which their friends will always find a warm welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Miller are to occupy next week their beautiful new home on the East Oakland hills. It is not far from Arbor Villa, and commands an exceedingly fine view. One hears that the new home is very artistic, and the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Miller are hoping that much good fortune may attend them in the new home.

KENT'S WELL KNOWN HERE.

they have many friends on our side of the bay. They have kept up their old friendships, even though the daughters of the family have traveled far in the past months. Two of them have been for some months in the Philippines, but are coming home for the summer. Captain and Mrs. Malcolm Graham, formerly Marie Kent, and Lieutenant and Mrs. Allen, formerly Ethel Kent, sailed from Manila early in June on the Buford.

Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Graham will remain here this summer, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kent.

Captain Graham has been ordered to Fort Leavenworth and will go there in August, and Lieutenant Allen will join his regiment directly in Texas, his new station.

Mrs. Claude Bloch, formerly Augusta Kent, is also in California. Lieutenant Bloch has been ordered to sea duty, and in September Mrs. Bloch is going to Kentucky to visit there her husband's relatives.

PEARL KING AT HOME.

Miss Pearl King has come home to spend the summer vacation at the family home in East Oakland. There is always a welcome for Pearl King when she comes home, for she is one of the dearest, most unspoiled, most unaffected of girls.

She is the girl who has had everything all her life, but she has wanted to be in the heart of "the day's work" herself. She has worked hard and all her friends are very glad indeed of the great success that has crowned her efforts.

Miss King is a most accomplished pianiste, and no matter where she happens to be she keeps up her practice of two hours a day—mostly for her father's sake—who has always loved her music, and who has always been very proud of his daughter's talent.

MR. AND MRS. BELDEN GO TO AUBURN.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Belden went to Auburn this week, where they have been guests of Mrs. Belden's mother, Mrs. Graham Laws.

The Beldens went to Auburn to be present at the marriage of Miss Alice Laws and Mr. William Birt, which took place at the Laws home on Thursday. It was a home wedding, with only the relatives and most intimate friends present, and one hears it was a very pretty wedding indeed, for Miss Alice Laws made a most charming bride.

Miss Laws spent most of her school days in Oakland, where she has many friends to offer her good wishes. Mr. Birt is an able and successful young business man of Sacramento, and the future home of the young people is to be in that city.

MR. AND MRS. MAGEE ON AUTO TRIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee, Miss Florence Hush and Will Hush have gone on a long automobile trip which will occupy several weeks of the summer. Mr. Magee is very expert in driving his own motor car, and he has some of the fastest machines on the coast.

SMART SET CHANGING.

Conventions are constantly changing in the smart set, and nothing marks the up-to-date woman so much as the invitations she sends out from her home. In England the latest fad in wording invitations to luncheon is the changing of the noun into a verb. For example, in addressing friends, one says or writes: "Will you come and luncheon with me on Tuesday." The former expression used was lunch. It seems a bit queer to Americans, for in sending such a note we would write: "Will you come and have luncheon with me." Seals and sealing wax have returned to favor in England, but crusts at the present time are seldom seen on envelopes, and are thought rather second rate. Coronets, however, are always used by those who possess them. Monograms are not fashionable at all.

The English people of fashion seldom or never at the present time write notes in the third person. Invitations in particular are not written in the third person, and the fashion of "preparing compliments" has entirely disappeared. Like the American woman, the English woman is largely substituting the telephone and telegraph for the mail in invitations to informal entertainments.

And it might be made a note of in the Oakland smart set that it is the worst possible form to write "regret" or "acceptance" on one's visiting card.

It is the rudest possible thing to reply to a kind invitation with the blunt, brusque word "Regrets."

MR. AND MRS. MATTHEWS GO AWAY.

CALIFORNIANS GOING ABROAD.

The number of Californians going abroad this summer has simply amazed every one. And the world at large is beginning to appreciate that Californians are intrepid travelers. For one thing, they are used to long distances, and for another thing, they have learned to put up with many undesirable things in traveling. They make up their minds to have a good time, and they let nothing interfere with their determination.

Americans who have been in Paris lately tell many stories of the exorbitant charges at the hotels, especially during the recent week, when the "Grand Prix" was run.

In some of the larger hotels the managers turned the ballrooms and billiard rooms into dormitories, and the scale of prices was enormous. One restaurateur in the Bois tried the plan last Sunday of serving luncheons only at a fixed price, which was eight dollars apiece, exclusive of wines or waters. Special fruits were likewise specially quoted. In fact, when the bills were presented it was seen that the initial charge of eight dollars apiece represented only the solid food, even the covers being considered extras, and the flowers were also very extravagant extras on the bill.

WAS FRIEND OF MRS. SMITH.

News notes from Europe are of interest when one knows the people well, and paragraphs are now being written regarding Lole Fuller, who originated the skirt dance and the wonderful electric light effects which accompanied it.

One reads of the charming dancer: "Lole Fuller's intelligence and character have made her known to thousands of Americans. From a pioneer's log cabin on the Western prairie to be the idol of Paris and the world is a far cry, and every one must regret that, after a life of hard work, Lole Fuller finds herself today, through no fault of her own, seriously embarrassed financially.

"Still she is working with characteristic energy to straighten out the tangle. During the recent visit of Queen Alexandra to Paris, an English friend of Lole Fuller wrote to her Majesty telling her of the actress' difficulties, and asking the queen to honor her by taking a box for one of the performances.

"With that kind and gracious thought for others that is so strong a characteristic of the Queen of England, she at once took a box for the same night, which was a great compliment, as the claims on her Majesty's time and attention are so many."

Lole Fuller was a great friend of the late Mrs. F. M. Smith, and so many prominent families met her socially. One of the most elaborate breakfasts ever given at Arbor Villa was in honor of Lole Fuller, and all of the Cosmos Club and many other prominent women were invited to meet her. Mrs. Smith also gave a reception for Lole Fuller, and always entertained her royally whenever she came to California.

PROMINENT PEOPLE RETURN.
Among the prominent people arriving in town for the summer are the Ernest Pelkottos and the Philip Verrihl Mighels.

The Ernest Pelkottos have lived abroad for years, and they know every bit of Europe. They have "arrived" in many senses, for Ernest Pelkotto's sketches have been much sought after by the magazines, and both Mr. and Mrs. Pelkotto have a perfect genius for word pictures, for both write exceedingly well. Mr. Pelkotto is widely known as an artist, and there is much about his work that is charming.

The Pelkottos were here three years ago, when they were extensively entertained.

Mrs. Pelkotto was formerly Mollie Hutchinson, and she is a sister of Mrs. William B. Pringle and of Mrs. Bernard Ransome.

Philip Verrihl Mighels has also achieved literary success, his stories showing much strength and a style that is very interesting.

Mr. Mighels is a nephew of Mr. J. R. Scupham and a cousin of Mrs. John Charles Adams.

Among the guests at Del Monte recently were Mr. and Mrs. Wickham Havens. They went to Monterey in their own motor car, a new Great Arrow runabout, one of the fastest of the new cars this year.

Miss Cope is planning to go abroad this year, and to spend some time in studying music under good auspices in Europe.

TAHOE HOMES ARE OPENING.

The Tahoe home are gradually being opened one by one, as people do not go to the high Sierras until July at the earliest.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tevis have an attractive home there and entertain guests all through the summer.

The Fred Magees have also a picturesque summer home on the lake, and they will have as their guest part of the summer, Mrs. Orates Pierce.

Mrs. Pierce recently returned from Europe, where she spent all of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brittain, formerly Grace Gowing, are also planning to spend some enjoyable weeks this year at Tahoe.

HARRIMAN'S IN NEW YORK.

The E. H. Harrimans have decided to go to New York next winter, and have taken a home on Fifth avenue, next to the one owned by the James Henry Smith estate.

Mary Harriman and her sisters are among the most charming girls in the New York social set. They have been splendidly educated, with fine views of social conditions and life generally.

Mrs. Harriman is very sweet and unaffected, quite unspoiled by all the power her husband's position has brought her.

One remembers how charming she was, once upon a time, when the Harrimans were the guests of the Board of Trade.

month, but later she will go to Lake Tahoe, which is such a favorite resort for Oakland people this summer.

MR. AND MRS. DIECKMANN ON VACATION.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dieckmann are spending some time with Mrs. Chabot at St. Helena. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight are planning to spend the Fourth of July holidays at Villaremi.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kimble, of Fresno, are in town and are guests of their relatives, the Charles Parcells.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chanslor have returned from the east and are at their home in San Francisco. Mrs. Chanslor is a most thoughtful hostess, always planning entertainments for her relatives and friends. She was the hostess recently at a charming luncheon given at the Claremont Country Club.

MR. AND MRS. E. R. FOLGER RETURN.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Folger returned recently from Yosemite, and are now planning a trip to Tahoe. The John R. Smiths have taken a cottage at Santa Cruz, and will leave for that seaside resort early in the week.

Among the visitors at Santa Cruz this week have been Mrs. George Gross and Miss Gross, who have been planning a summer outing at the seashore.

MISS MAHONEY BACK FROM TRIP.

The Misses Mahoney returned to town this week after a stay of some days at McCray's. Miss Louise Mahoney is planning to go to the Santa Cruz mountains for some weeks of the summer.

FOURTH OF JULY.

The main event of next week is the Fourth of July, and every family is very patriotic this year, planning some sort of a holiday.

At Del Monte are automobile races and there is always golf to interest the tired-out business man. The Santa Cruz mountains are full of people, guests at the many country homes for over the holidays. At Carmel-by-the-Sea are delightful cottages, and in one of them Mrs. Edna Ward Lacey Brown and Mrs. Albert

Ward Lacey Brown and Mrs. Albert

Clement will entertain friends.

There are a hundred and fifty guests now at McCray's, and two hundred and fifty are expected there for the Fourth of July holidays. Fourth of July is an important event in Cloverdale annals, and the big celebration on the Russian river has grown to be historic.

But it is our own celebration that looms high above all others, and the great mass of people who stay at home will be the ones to really have the best time.

The new ball room at the Claremont Country Club is to be opened on the Fourth of July evening, and a dance there is to be the event of the day.

But it is the great down-town celebration that appeals to most of us. One may have a dance at the Country Club any Saturday night. The big celebration is to be down town, and there is a fascination in an evening parade that appeals to one. Especially when the parade includes automobiles with the gorgeous decorations possible for them nowadays. And what could be more fascinating than our own beautiful Lake Merritt, with the illuminated boats and the wonderful fireworks reflected in sea and sky.

It is a natural scenic theater and we could seat comfortably a whole city on the hills sloping down to the lake. Many of the Lakeside people are to have guests that evening, and from all the adjacent country people will pour into town for the holiday night. And it is all quite right. We are glad that there is energy and enthusiasm enough in the town to get up a big celebration; it is right that we should keep the nation's birthday; that patriotism should have its one special day for expression; that we should pause in the day's work to honor the day which means freedom—to send floating on the breeze everywhere the stars and stripes, true emblem of liberty.

The marriage is announced of Miss Carita Moore and Alexander Young Jr., which took place Thursday morning at the Moore home in Myrtle street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles R. Brown, of the First Congregational Church.

Mr. Young and his bride left immediately on a honeymoon trip, and on their return will make their home in Oakland for the present. Mrs. Young is a prominent member of the younger set in Oakland, and is an unusually talented musician. Mr. Young is the son of Alexander Young, millionaire planter and hotel owner of Honolulu. He is a member of the Berkeley real estate firm of Young, Brown, Harvey & Young.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Arthur Gessler arrived a few days ago to join Mrs. Gessler, formerly Miss Carol Moore, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Heney will leave shortly for a trip to Southern California.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

Captain H. M. Hayward announces the engagement of his daughter, Cassie, to John E. Fitzpatrick of the Donohoe-Kelly Banking Company.

Miss Hayward's school days were spent at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, from which institution she was graduated before going East to further complete her musical education. She has an excellent contralto voice, which has been heard here in various churches, her interest in choir work making her well known to musical people. Mr. Fitzpatrick is a graduate of St. Ignace College and has won for himself an enviable place in the financial world.

No definite date has been mentioned for the wedding, but it will be an event of July.

Mrs. John Hoffman, formerly Miss Mary Le Conte, has taken a cottage at Carmel for the season.

JULY WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Emma Wilkins and Herbert J. Read will be a pretty event of July. Miss Wilkins is the daughter of C. W. Wilkins, a former supervisor. Read is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Read, and a brother of Alfred Read, the baritone. He is a well-known young business man of this city.

ENGAGEMENT NEWS.

Mrs. Henry Martinez will entertain next week at an informal tea to be given at her Berkeley home for Miss Lillian Saltonstall. Formal announcement will be made on this occasion of the engagement of Miss Saltonstall and Dr. Norman Mattison of New York.

The bride-elect is a talented girl, the daughter of Dr. Florence Saltonstall Ward, prominent in San Francisco. For the past month the family have been making their home in the college town. Miss Saltonstall is a graduate of Miss Hild's academy in Berkeley and holds a college degree from Vassar. It was while recently attending a meeting of the Vassar alumnae that the Western girl and Eastern physician met. The marriage will be celebrated in September. Dr. Mattison and his bride will make their home in New York.

HOWLAND-DIXMORE.

The marriage of Miss Carolyn Dixmore and George H. Howland will take place this evening at Pilgrim Congregational Church. The Rev. Raymond C. Brooks will be the officiating clergyman. A reception to the bridal couple will be given at the home of the bride's aunt in East Oakland, following the ceremony. Miss Dixmore has been connected with the school department of this city.

HOME AGAIN.

Miss Eleanor Phelps has returned after a visit to Mare Island, where she was the guest for several days of Miss Charlotte Gearing.

Miss Phelps is a great favorite at the Navy Yard, where she will doubtless spend much of the time during the coming summer, as her father, Captain Thomas S. Phelps, is to have command of the new cruiser California, which is to be placed in commission there during the coming month; and aboard which much entertaining will probably be done during her stay at the naval station.

FAREWELL PARTY.

The members of Company F, Fifth regiment, National Guard of California, will be the complimented guests at a farewell party to be given by McCown's Academy of Dancing at Central Hall. The company leaves July 4 for San Diego, where they will be in camp from July 5 to July 20.

EXPERTS PREDICT GREAT ACTIVITY IN REALTY

PROGRESS OF CONSTRUCTION ON THREE OF THE BIG BUILDINGS BEING ERECTED IN BUSINESS CENTER OF OAKLAND

LOOKING NORTHWARD FROM EAST SIDE OF BROADWAY, BETWEEN THIRTEENTH AND FOURTEENTH STREETS, SHOWING RISING WALLS OF FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

LOOKING EASTWARD FROM SOUTHWEST CORNER OF TWELFTH AND BROADWAY, SHOWING OAKLAND BANK OF SAVINGS AND HOTEL ST. MARK.

Half-tone Reproduction of Photographs of Two Scenes Taken in the Business Heart of Oakland, Showing Three of the Big Structures Which Are Beginning to Crowd One Another There.

The two half-tone reproductions of photographs taken this week show the present condition of three of the large class A buildings which are being erected in the business quarter of the city.

TWELFTH STREET SCENE.

One scene shows the massive steel frame of the new building of the Oakland Bank of Savings, whose white granite walls are rising above the second floor, in the foreground, with the exterior reinforced concrete walls of the Hotel St. Mark, eight stories in height, in the background.

The interior finishing of the latter building is to be rushed to completion, as it is desired to have the hotel opened as early as possible. The lessee, Fred C. Dodd, has given the local firm of Walter S. Mackay & Co. the contract to outfit the hotel with furniture and furnishings, and Mr. Dodd and Mr. Mackay went East this week to select the stock.

ALL OFFICES RENTED.

The tremendous demand for office room in this city is illustrated by the fact that every room on the upper four floors of the Oakland Bank of Savings, which are the part of the structure that will not be occupied by the bank and the Bankers' Trust, has been rented to tenants; and while the reinforced concrete walls of the First National Bank, which are shown in the other illustration, have only reached the third of the eight floors which it will possess when finished, the greater number of the office rooms which it will contain have been applied for by the most desirable class of tenants.

OAKLAND'S RAPID PROGRESS.

These two scenes illustrate the energetic effort which Oakland is at present making to accommodate itself to the new condition in which it is placed, for within a circuit of less than half a dozen blocks of the ground occupied by the First National Bank Building, at the junction of San Pablo avenue, Broadway and Fourteenth street, there are a dozen or more big modern buildings either under actual construction or the ground is being excavated for their foundations. Among them are the big hotel promoted by the syndicate of banks and the enormous structure which will within a year or so be the home of the dry goods firm of Taft & Peunoyer, the basement excavation of which is nearly finished. Oakland is moving ahead at a rapid rate; but in the course of its new development it is moving along substantial lines, as these illustrations demonstrate conclusively.

PROPERTY VALUES THROUGHOUT THE CITY CONTINUE TO HOLD VERY FIRM

Public and Corporation Improvements Helping to Strengthen Them, and a Rushing Market Is Anticipated in the Next Few Weeks.

While the past week has been comparatively quiet in realty circles the influence of the strongest kind of an inducement is being felt all along the line. The close of the month witnesses the semi-annual settlement of the savings banks when term deposits may be withdrawn without the sacrifice of the interest they have earned. It is currently stated that many of these term deposits will be withdrawn after the 1st of July to be invested in revenue producing improvements and for investment in real estate which promises to produce better returns. Many loans are said to have been negotiated in advance for these purposes, the commercial field being at present more attractive to the bankers.

REALTY VALUES.

Realty values are, however, strong all along the line. Owners of available property, for which there is a persistent demand, are reading the signs of the times and holding out for advanced prices. Many pieces of property which were on the market a few weeks ago, on which options that have now expired were held, have been withdrawn from sale on this account, for confidence in Oakland's progress was never stronger than it is at the present moment.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

The prospects of the latter half of the year are exceptionally bright. At the county recorder's office, brisker times than have ever before been experienced are anticipated during the next three months. "Not only do we anticipate here," remarked the Deputy County Recorder the other day, "but it is shared in all along the line, and it will begin as soon as the construction gangs of the Western Pacific enter the city. The fever to get in on the ground floor ahead of the great advance movement in realty values which will follow, will take possession of every one having money to invest in real estate. It is coming sure."

PLANS OF THE WESTERN.

The plans of this corporation are broadening every day. Their development is only a question of a few weeks at most. The section of the main trunk between Sacramento and Stockton and possibly between Stockton and Oroville, will be in operation before the end of the year. Two large engines of the Western Pacific reached Sacramento from the east this week. The operation of the western end from Stockton to Oakland is dependent in a large measure upon the completion of the long tunnel piercing the divide at Altamont, and the company is concentrating as much of its energy at that point as it is possible for it to utilize.

Then again, the revised plan of the corporation in this city provides for a great increase in its terminal facilities on the bay shore. An application is now before the council for the widening of the terminal grounds from 600 to 1,000 feet to correspond with the deep water frontage and a strip 100 feet wide along the northern side for a distance of 5000 feet to be dredged and utilized as a dock for oriental steamships and other deepwater craft, and an ordinance is in course of passage granting these privileges to the company. And wherever there has been a failure to reach a settlement for right of way through private property through private negotiation condemnation writs have been filed in order that the terms may be equitably determined by the courts. All of these plans, and operations have a direct bearing on the future values of property here.

INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS.

Some opposition has developed to the opening of Fourteenth street from Harrison street to the lake extension of that thoroughfare. It is not based, however, on an indisposition on the part of those property-owners who will be benefited by the project, for all want to see it done; but chiefly to the width of the street as has been planned, which involves the condemnation and removal of many costly improvements lying within the limits of the street extension as laid out. Some of these can be avoided by reducing the width to that of the lake section of the street instead of carrying down the full width of the street west of Harrison. The opposition will probably be placated by a compromise on these lines.

Plans are being considered by the Board of Public Works to restore the pavements of streets which have been destroyed by the heavy traffic they have been required to carry during the past year, and that on lines which will impose a minimum of cost on property owners. The latter will be asked to lay down good sidewalks and permanent curbs and gutters at their expense, the cost of the paving of the roadway to be borne by the city.

Twelfth street from Broadway and Thirteenth street from Washington to Oak street are being put in prime condition. Twelfth street has been paved with bitumen, new gutters and curbs laid, and the Oakland Traction Company is performing its part of the work by bituminizing the roadway between its car tracks and two feet on either side of them, making it one of the finest driveways in the city. The standardizing of the tracks of the Traction Company on Thirteenth street is nearly finished, and the roadbed is being bituminized wherever the street has such a pavement to correspond with it. This street will also be in fine condition when the work is finished.

The Southern Pacific Company took time by the forelock last Sunday and standardized the remnant of the old narrow gauge track extending along Webster street from Thirteenth to Fourteenth street, thus anticipating the intention of the Board of Public Works to tear out the unused spur on the assumption that the franchise had been forfeited through abandonment.

The macadamizing of the new section of Harrison boulevard from Twelfth to Twenty-fourth street was finished during the week and accepted by the Board of Public Works, whose members paid a fine compliment to President Bilger, of the Blake & Bilger Paving Company, on the excellence of the job. The board is now preparing to park the strip of land between the lake shore and the boulevard sidewalks and plant it with grass lawns, flowering plants and other shrubbery. All of these improvements add to the public comfort, enhance the beauties of the city and add materially to property values.

PICTURESQUE BUNGALOW IN COURSE OF ERECTION ON PERALTA HEIGHTS

CARL H. EVERS' NEW HOME ON HANOVER AVENUE, EAST OF WAYNE STREET.

Comfort and Elegance Combined in a Cozy Home at Comparatively Small Cost.

The above illustration is a reproduction of a pen and ink sketch of a picturesque five-room bungalow designed by Architect C. M. Cook for Carl H. Evers and located on the south side of Hanover avenue, 100 feet west of Wayne street. It will have wide projecting eaves, with heavy rafter ends showing. The foundation will be clinker brick, two and one-half feet high above ground; also the posts on the porch will be of clinker brick. The exterior of the house will be covered with white cedar shingles, and all the trimmings will be natural redwood. This contrast with the rich brown of the natural redwood, the white shingles and the rough clinker brick in the foundation adds greatly to the rustic beauty of the exterior. The interior living and dining rooms, with their heavy beamed ceilings and effective paneling, together with the high-paneled wainscoting on the walls, all finished in fumed oak, and the hardwood oak floors, with elaborate patterned borders, will all tend to make this interior one of the most beautiful of the many handsome modern cottages that are now being constructed in this city. To the combination of comfort and elegance has been added economy in construction, as the cost will not exceed $2200.

NORTH OAKLAND GETS A $40,000 NEW BUILDING

Three-Story Frame Structure Which Is to Be Erected on San Pablo Avenue.

Eric O. Lindblom applied during the week for a permit from the Board of Works to erect a three-story frame building at the southeast corner of San Pablo avenue. It will contain stores, offices and a large assembly hall. The improvement represents an outlay of $40,000 irrespective of the cost of the land, and is the largest and most valuable improvement made in the northern part of the city for a long time past.

RECENT INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENTS WHICH HAVE TAKEN PLACE AT THE FOOT OF CYPRESS AND KIRKHAM STREETS

CYPRESS STREET LOOKING NORTH FROM THIRD.

FIFTH STREET LOOKING WEST FROM KIRKHAM.

Southern Pacific Company's New Freight Depot and Warehouses, Manufactories, Storage Plants and Other Industries Quartered in West Oakland.

The accompanying half-tones illustrate the recent changes that have taken place in that section of the city lying south of the Seventh street railroad track at the foot of Cypress and Kirkham, Third and Fifth streets, and new group of industries has taken root, gathering around the new Southern Pacific freight depot, which covers the whole of the area bounded by Cypress, Kirkham, Third and Fifth streets, and also the entire east side frontage of Kirkham street from Fifth street to Third. In this group are the warehouses, cold storage plants and manufactories of nearly a dozen firms.

Two years ago land occupied by these industries was practically worthless, being rated at $10 per front foot.

The consideration in the last transfer of realty in the locality was $170 per front foot. It is now represented that there is not a square foot of land in this district which can be obtained at the latter figure.

MANY VISITORS PRESENT HERE FROM ABROAD

Much Inquiry for Manufacturing and Business Locations in the City of Oakland.

"I have never known a time," said Secretary Stearns of the Chamber of Commerce one day this week, "when there were so many strangers in town. The city is full of visitors from abroad, and they are all taking the deepest interest in the affairs of Oakland and Alameda county, and many of them are making inquiries for suitable sites for the location of manufactories. Oakland is very much alive and occupies a very conspicuous place on the map. These big buildings which are now in the course of erection are the forerunners of what is coming. It won't be very long before you see all the surrounding territory covered the same way."

There is a big and increasing demand for store accommodations in the central retail district. There are half a dozen of the biggest retail firms in San Francisco which would be over here tomorrow if they could only get suitable quarters, and many of those who sought temporary refuge here and then returned to San Francisco occupy temporary quarters, and to carry on their business under the most unfavorable conditions would return here at once if the right kind of buildings could be provided for them. Some of our 17th men should loosen up a little and get busy."

REALTY EXCHANGE PLANS ADVERTISING HOME CITY

Monthly Fund to Be Established for the Purpose of Extending Alameda's Fame.

ALAMEDA, June 28.—The announcement of the Realty Exchange that it will soon open an information bureau in this city is probably the most important step yet taken to advance the interests of the city. The dealers are all enthusiastic over the outlook for the improvement and advancement of the city and will expend a large amount of money monthly in advertising Alameda as the "home city of the coast." A definite scheme of advertising will be outlined as quickly as the bureau is opened, and then the members expect to commence a campaign of enlightenment that will show the city in its natural beauty and will attract residents and manufacturers.

William Hammond, president of the exchange, is most enthusiastic over the work. He stated yesterday that there could be but one result, and that would be the attracting of residents. It is not the intention to make Alameda a manufacturing city, but there is much available marsh land that can be improved for occupation by manufactories. The residence districts will not be in danger then of being encroached on, and the city will be greatly benefited.

The dealers all report a satisfactory week. As usual in the summer, there is a slight drop in demand for purchasing, but the renting business is good and all of the dealers are doing a nice business. Though many Alamedans have gone away for the summer, their homes are not vacant and many of them have rented their residences to persons from outside cities, who find that Alameda is a summer resort.

Numerous improvements are being planned and there are many homes being erected. The work on the Combs and Fisher Building is progressing and the Alameda Land Company has under construction a number of houses in all parts of the city. The plans of the new apartment house of the company have been accepted and the contracts will soon be let. The building will be one of the finest on this side of the bay.

WEEK'S RECORD OF TRANSFERS

The past week has been comparatively quiet in the County Recorder's office, for we are right in the middle of the vacation season, when a large part of the population is rusticated in the country, having temporarily thrown off the cares of business and abandoned, for the time being, all consideration of the realty market. But there are many people who are wide awake to the opportunities such a slack time affords, and they are making the most of it. It is this class chiefly which is represented in the list of real estate transfers, mostly deeds, recorded in the County Recorder's office during the week ending Wednesday last, at the close of business, as shown in the following official statement:

Thursday	85
Friday	110
Saturday (half holiday)	78

IMPROVEMENTS NEAR THE LAKE

Six new two-story buildings, five of them double flats, have been erected during the past two or three months on the west side of First avenue, between East Twelfth and East Thirtieth streets. The boulevard frontage north of the Twelfth street dam is gradually being occupied by handsome residences, an throughout the neighboring Peralta Heights new houses are springing up in great numbers. Across the lake the heart of Vernon Heights, north of Adams Point, is studded with handsome residences undergoing construction. In the course of another year that whole district promises to be occupied by new and artistic homes. Prospective improvements to Lake Merritt and its contiguous parks which the city is preparing to make will add immensely to the popularity of adjacent property and greatly increase its value.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

THE APPROACHING MUNICIPAL TANGLE.

The Graft Prosecution armed with its Big Stick is rapidly approaching a very critical point in its scheme of municipal reorganization and I am told the members show signs of perturbation over the possible outcome. For months past it has been blazoned to the world that when they considered the time ripe they would proceed with the business of appointing a mayor—vice Schmitz convicted. Scarcely was the ink dry on the record against Schmitz when the ukase was issued that the time was ripe to shear him of the prerogatives of office. The mayor's appeal to a higher court to be allowed his liberty on furnishing proper bonds was regarded by them as simply useless squirming in the net.

AS THE PLAN WAS SKETCHED.

The ready Prosecution had already settled the appealed points in its own mind just as it self-confidently had determined all points leading up to the appointment of Schmitz's successor. Handy Man Gallagher was slated to assume the mayor's chair for a day or two; in the interim one of the supervisors, Lonergan rumor said, was to resign and acting mayor or Mayor Gallagher was to appoint the Prosecution's very dark horse to the vacant position. Gallagher was then to quit the fatal chair and go away back and sit down while the Big Stick coerced the necessary number of supervisors to elect the dark horse to the mayorship. Schmitz was then to be placed in his official coffin and toted off the political stage. No flowers. Then was to follow the long-awaited municipal house-cleaning day, in which the self-confessed grafting supervisors were to resign one by one, while the new mayor replaced them with timber selected by the Big Stick. The new board, once in office, it was expected that the naming of the several important municipal committees would be simply dictation work for Spreckels, Heney and their advisors.

SCHMITZ MAKES A SORTIE.

This was the alluring dream of the members of the Prosecution in their most glowing moods. But here is the rub—and Heney, Spreckels and Burns have suddenly waked up to it. While their Dark Horse Mayor is appointing supervisors what will Schmitz be doing? In jail or out he still claims the prerogatives of his office and will insist upon exercising them. Only a protracted and bitterly fought contest in the courts will determine the issue. Even if Schmitz loses he will have succeeded in clouding the title, confusing the cautious holders of city bonds and warrants and maintaining a tentative grip on the place during the rest of his term. He intends to appoint supervisors to the reconstructed board as fast as the Big Stick drubs out the present members. His new supervisors, even if they fail to collect their salaries from an enjoined treasurer or even if they are driven to meet Schmitz in jail will compose a board to be figured with, a board of sufficient importance to throw flickering rays of legal doubt on the acts of the new board framed by the graft Prosecution—the point aimed at by Schmitz.

TYING UP THE CITY'S MONEY.

A foretaste of this non-relishable dish is now being presented to the Prosecution in the shape of the mayor's notice served this week on the bondsmen of Treasurer Bantel. Schmitz has officially announced that he will hold the surety company responsible for any public moneys the treasurer may pay out without his (Schmitz) signature to the warrant. The Prosecution may scoff at such a move on Schmitz's part, but just the same it places an irritating doubt on the legality of any money paid out without Schmitz's approval. Naturally the surety company, sensitive of the safety of its funds, has announced that there is no use to take any chances until the courts have passed upon the point at issue. To clinch the matter Bantel has sided with Schmitz. The latter accordingly has added the treasurer's office as an intrenchment to his position and he will continue to capture such municipal outposts from all of which he must be formally expelled by suits at law. Any one familiar with the Collins case knows what that means. These are complications the Prosecution would give a deal to unravel. Verily the Big Stick, as handled by its present wielders, is proving something of a boomerang.

RUEF AS A SOLE SUPPORT.

More and more as the days roll by and the vision clears is the eye of the public opening to the fact that the whole case of the Prosecution is "one man" testimony, based on whatever Ruef may choose to furnish. And what is Ruef? A rat caught in a trap, a crafty, sly, conscienceless rogue, selfishly dependent on the Prosecution's promises and cajoleries for every added hour he hopes to squeeze from his just sentence; a grafter without honor, without spirit and without compunction; a greedy, vain and begging "squealer," who would sell his word, friends or anything else to be allowed to escape with his ill-gotten spoils and a light sentence from the punishment of his rotten misdeeds. He is a trapped protean rogue who confesses to one story when given his immunity bath, juggles the same story to suit the exigencies of the Grand Jury room and regarbles it when placed upon the witness stand as a lachrymose penitent. His shuffling testimony "made the prosecution angry," according to the interviews had after his "surprising statements" offered in the Schmitz trial. This is the creature on whose word of mouth the Prosecution banks to convict those down on their list for indictment.

WINNING PUBLIC VERDICTS.

Long ago the Prosecution heralded that "no guilty man" should escape; that graft was to be pursued through all its ramifications till every last one of the grafters was behind the bars. Glance over the record to date. People are asking why this change of front. Simply "expediency"; the early discovery that the evidence likely to be unearthed would not convict in all the cases set down for indictment. The brainstorm over this fact led to the conception of the immunity bath through which the Prosecution hoped to land somebody or something "higher up." The next result of the immunity campaign is that the Prosecution is dependent on the sole testimony of Ruef, a broken sword, a discredited rascal who is, figuratively speaking, being thumb-screwed to furnish the necessary evidence to convict the indicted. This weakness of testimony is manifest whenever the Prosecution resorts to its barfeful habit—the preliminary hearings of all its cases in the newspapers in order to win a one-sided verdict. Fortunately courts are more insistent on corroborative evidence.

GRUDGES CHASING RAINBOWS.

Confessed grafter after confessed grafter has been promised immunity in the rabid hunt for those "higher up," till Schmitz is the only one convicted and he has an appeal which is said to be based solidly on at least fifty good and sufficient reasons. Further, there is a growing suspicion that both Ruef and Schmitz could get almost anything they asked for in the way of immunity should they furnish evidence useful to convict the indicted. This present mad pursuit of those "higher up," this willful disregard of the appeals of a distressed city by a Prosecution lost in its haste to satisfy personal grudges is in sharp contrast with the promises made when the campaign against graft began. They insist that the big corruptionists must be brought to bar. Had the evidence been one-half as strong as their assurance the indicted would have been landed long ago. While meeting so many "easy" grafters, why not convict some of those who stand self-confessed. To be consistent the Prosecution should take action against the French restaurant keepers. But consistency has not been a jewel displayed by the Prosecution. Probably that is why the city is still in such a wretched mess politically, notwithstanding the many opportunities offered Spreckels and Heney to improve matters. Selfishness and rancor never wrecked such a chance to rescue a prostrate and graft-burdened city.

A SPASM OF VIRTUE.

Introspection for the purpose of finding out one's own absurdities is a function in which our Bar Association never indulges. That is why it is blissfully unconscious of the amusement to be derived from the spectacle which it presents while writhing in a self-induced spasm of virtue. Heretofore the Bar Association, which, by the way, is composed principally of the mediocrities of the legal profession, has been dominated by ideas that nullified action. Until George D. Collins had made the ethics of his profession look like a formula for defying most of the section of the penal code nobody supposed that it was possible for a lawyer to do anything that would start a frown in the Bar Association. Abe Ruef enjoyed the confidence of that association until he pleaded guilty, and he lost it then merely because he forfeited his license automatically. But the Bar Association has been suddenly seized with an ambition to purify the profession. The birth of this ambition was posterior to the Heney Grand Jury's inquiry into the conduct of Attorney Cope, who is president of the association. Cope was not indicted, but he might have been. Though he committed no crime he must nevertheless be grateful to his friend Mr. Heney for his forbearance; for in these piping times of thumb-screws, iron boots and scorching flesh indictments are distributed with a prodigality that is somewhat terrorizing.

WHY THEY WERE INDICTED.

It is only by way of suggestion that I mention the fact that it was after Cope was refreshed by Mr. Heney's forbearance that the Bar Association precipitately resolved to purify the profession. The association we are told has resolved to start disbarment proceedings against the attorneys who have been indicted. The absurdity of this course is thought to be obvious inasmuch as the conviction of the indicted attorneys would result in the forfeiture of their licenses. But the obviousness of it is an illusion. The fact is that there is no more chance of those attorneys being convicted than there is of Abe Ruef's becoming a worshiper of the serene and beneficent goddess Truth. Attorney Brobeck was indicted for bribery, merely because the Grand Jury was in the mood, and work was getting slack and they wanted to keep their hands in at the life-long maiming pastime. At this moment Brobeck's license to practice law looks much better to me than Heney's. Attorney William M. Abbott is supposed to have been indicted just because and for nothing else. He amiably acted as a bodyguard one day when some money was being carted away from the mint, and that was the nearest he ever came to committing bribery. I have not kept track of all the lawyers that have been indicted, but I shouldn't be surprised to learn that the number is very large. Mr. Heney doesn't like lawyers. I'm surprised he doesn't have himself indicted, for by the time his labors are over he will probably feel that he gave himself sufficient provocation. —Town Talk.

HAD A GREAT LAUGH.

Hey diddle diddle,
The cat and the fiddle—
The Supervisors all had a great laugh,
While Schmitz played pianissimo,
Con vera cussissimo,
And Ruef took his Immunity Bath. —Town Talk.

RUEF'S HEARTFELT LAMENT.

Now that Ruefites and Schmitzites are telling things on each other, the Average Citizen is beginning to wonder how he could have been so taken in. Among other surprises, it appears that Ruef's greed has been the limit, according to his followers. During the Schmitz trial, one former adherent of the boss remarked that Ruef's testimony would be nearer the truth, according to his character, if he testified that instead of dividing the French restaurant fee he had informed his confederate that the restaurant men failed to come through. It seems to have been Ruef's plan to use money only when personal, political, diplomatic or disciplinary measures failed to move his appointees. This trait is further illustrated by and incident following Ruef's confession. In a voice that left no doubt as to the genuineness of his anguish, the boss told a lieutenant that his trial had already cost him $105,000 in hard coin. Moralists may be interested to know that at the time of this lament the penitent's desk was piled high with letters and resolutions from Christian Endeavorers, Bands of Hope, Home Missions, Purity Brigades and graftologists, gushing full of some jubulations and praise for his moral regeneration. —Town Talk.

GREAT TANGLE IN POLITICAL WIRES.

Very complicated is the local political situation, a condition to delight the master manipulator, for out of the intricacies which confuse his opponents he adroitly moves the pawns reaching to his own triumph. The particular features of the present moment are the flirtings of the "Big Stick" with the labor leaders and the efforts of the Independence "Leg" to maintain its standing. Phelan is "not out for office," according to his insistent pronouncements, but he is energetically busy in seeking to become an arbiter of political events, a mayor-maker, as it were, in the Spreckels cabinet. Spreckels himself is in frequent conference with Casey, Furuseth and such leaders of the labor wings as are likely to prove serviceable to his designs in so-called "municipal reform," an elastic construction for handling the next mayor. The "Big Stick," having sported itself as the sceptre of municipal authority, is loath to relinquish its position and purposes making a struggle to hold fast. How Banker Rudolph is going to organize a pliable coalition out of his labor elements and splice it on the furnishings of Phelan, Dwyer, et al., passeth the human understanding. The Spreckels name, judging by passed political events, is not one to conjure with in successful politics or in the ranks of unionism. Attorney Dwyer, the official head of the local Independence League, is doubly occupied in advising Spreckels and in nursing the physical infirmities of the "Leg." In the latter calling he is having a particularly worrying time poring over the political pharmacopoeia in search of a remedy to maintain life in the expiring body. July 15 is the time limit set for filing the Independence party's petition. Signs are plentiful, too, that its leaders may be ambushed and scalped at the primaries. What a fearful embarrassment of explanations would ensue if in this preliminary skirmish of the campaign the organization should be captured and taken into the camp of its rivals. —Town Talk.

THE DUKE MAY VISIT CALIFORNIA.

There is a palpitating flutter along the gilded highways, over the news that the Duke of the Abruzzi may visit California before returning to his ancestral halls. While in New York he has been regarded as the especial property of Mrs. Charles Alexander, whose house guest he has been. His excursions into New York drawing rooms are a sort of "personally conducted" tour by Mrs. Alexander. A rival hostess, with an ache in her temper over an ignored invitation, is quoted as saying "that one might fancy a Crocker arranging a railroad itinerary, but a social pilgrimage—never!" My informant tells me that we can scrape just such wonderful pea green color from the jealous utterances of any number of New York leaders who were anxious to annex the dual glory of entertaining the Duke. Should the Duke journey to these parts he would probably be the natural heritage of the Crocker clan. Mrs. Will Crocker is not as keen on titles as most good Americans, having made a close hand study of the genus in the person of her own brother-in-law. But she would no doubt entertain the Duke just as handsomely if not as obsequiously as the hostess who has never had a first-name acquaintance with a prince. Of course the Duke is a title that has never lost its polish and it isn't often that we have an opportunity to entertain anything better than a moth-eaten patch on royalty. Miss Jennie Crocker will surely entertain in his honor if he carries out his present intention of visiting us. Miss Crocker is considered a member of the Alexander household—a peripatetic member, as she she prefers life out here. —Town Talk.

BREAK IN BERKELEY SOCIETY.

Berkeley matrons are anxiously questioning a bit of rumor which has been going the rounds these last few days. Some one has knowingly said that Mrs. F. E. Farrington, the prominent society leader in University circles, does not intend to return to Berkeley when Professor Farrington's year's leave of absence has expired. At present the Farringtons are in Paris and the question of their future plans must remain unanswered. Certain it is that much of Berkeley's present social whirl must be laid to Mrs. Farrington's account. She descended about three years ago to find Berkeley's faculty in a state of social lethargy—and started the din of teas and its various accompaniments. Unfortunately it was not all smooth sailing for Mrs. Farrington. She built a beautiful home, entertained at dinners, musicales, teas, and when her guests had dined, and listened and smilingly sipped the social beverage, they ranged themselves in two factions, so to speak, pro Mrs. Farrington and anti Mrs. Farrington. The anti faction were the mossbarks who were so firmly rooted in conventionality as the live oaks are in the campus. They would rather have had her break the ten commandments than bend their pet convention that the wives of the college professors should hold themselves aloof from all undergraduate affairs. The pro faction not only applauded her as a charming hostess and recognized the pleasure and interest she brought into the lives of the college students—but they also believed themselves fortunate to be counted among Mrs. Farrington's friends. And now, in view of her retiring energy and activity for others, they ask if they have proven themselves so ungrateful that the attractions of the western college town will pale before the more pleasant social life of an Eastern University. If the Farringtons sell their unique home in Berkeley and seek other fields of learning, Mrs. Farrington's departure will be sincerely regretted by many different coteries of women in the classic suburb. —Town Talk.

SOCIETY WOMEN INSULTED.

The young women of the Entre Nous social club whose parents felt outraged because Supervisor Coleman attended a recent cotillion will have no cause for alarm next season, for I hear the boodling officials name has been stricken from the membership list, and dues will not be accepted from him when the Winter season opens. This action by the leaders of the club was brought about by the publication in these columns of the incident which caused the parents of some of the young women to declare that their attendance at the dances would be prohibited if the bars were let down to the bribe-taking class. Now it is announced that Coleman will not be permitted to participate in the club's dances, and similar efforts will be made to keep out of the membership any other undesirables. Shortly before the Coleman affair at the Fairmont the members of another dancing club, La Amistad, were horrified to learn that they had entertained in their midst a woman whose reputation was of a color decidedly carmine. She attended a dance at Native Sons' Hall, appearing in a gown strikingly decollete and of a shimmering crimson. Being vivacious in manner she was quite the hit of the hall until it was whispered about that her residence had been in a down-town apartment house where the lights never go out and nobody asks questions. Then there was a demand for an explanation from the escort who had brought her there and the next day the newspapers were asked to strike her name from the list of those present. Since then this club has been more careful, and now Entre Nous is going to follow this example. —Wasp.

CALIFORNIANS IN THE ENGLISH LIMELIGHT.

A friend in London who is putting up at the Berkeley Hotel writes me that the Walter McCreerys are staying there. Mrs. McCreery, my correspondent says, really has the "fatal gift of beauty" in a marked degree, the sort of beauty that passages sentimental cataclysms. She is a target for admiring attention wherever she moves, and her husband basks in the sunshine of the admiration she inspires. My friend says that we would not recognize the indifferent, cynical Walter McCreery in the lovely husband of the English beauty. Mrs. Peter Martin was dining in the same hotel the other night and these two beautiful women were conspicuously lorgnetted. From the enthusiastic regard in which Mrs. Peter is held in London, I take it, we were not properly worshipful of her charms in San Francisco. It may be that because pretty girls grow as thick as weeds out here, Venus herself would not take us off our pumps. —Town Talk.

MRS. PETER MARTIN AND THE DUCHESS.

But London is not so apathetic on the subject of Mrs. Martin's loveliness, and in spite of the fact that she has not been press agent into the limelight, the photographers who are alert for the pictures of "new beauties" are importuning her to sit for them. England's contempt for "trade" does not extend to disdaining royalties on one's photographs, and a great many English society women pocket a pretty penny in this wise. My friend writes that she did not see Mrs. Martin's picture displayed in any of the shop windows, but in one place she found a very good snapshot of the Duchess of Marlborough and the fair Mrs. Peter. It is through the friendship of the young American duchess that Mrs. Martin has achieved such prominence. These two young women are constantly together, and as a result Mrs. Martin has been put through the social separator and has come out pure cream, leaving less fortunate Americans to dabble in the skim-milk society. —Town Talk.

ENGAGEMENT "LAVENDER TEA."

Mrs. G. Alexander Wright and the Misses Wright of Palo Alto were hostesses last Wednesday afternoon at a "Lavender Tea" in the red room at the Fairmont Hotel. Thirty guests enjoyed the dainty menu and interesting afternoon. A professional orchestra of young ladies was in attendance. At a given signal each lady drew her individual bouquet which was found to contain a dainty souvenir announcing the engagement of Miss Ethel E. C. Wright to Ailen H. Peck, M. D. Miss Ethel Wright is one of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. Alexander Wright, well known in San Francisco and the trans-bay cities. The Wrights resided in Alameda for many years, but recently removed to Palo Alto. Miss Ethel is a graduate of the University of California, having taken her college degree of Bachelor of Letters at the last May commencement. Dr. Peck is now practicing his profession in Southern California. The wedding will take place in the early autumn. —Town Talk.

DIGGING FOR TREASURES.

Word has been received at the university of California that Dr. George A. Reisner, formerly connected with the faculty and now working on behalf of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst in Egypt, has been appointed archaeologist in charge of the excavations of the Egyptian government in Nubia. The archaeological work about to be undertaken is the most remarkable ever conceived. It is to be nothing more nor less than the continuous excavation of both sides of the Nile from Kalasche to Derr, a distance of 150 kilometers. This is rendered necessary by the decision to raise the Assuan dam another eight meters. Professor Maspero, the head of the department of antiquities, is to have charge of the restoration of the known temples, and the copying of their inscriptions. Captain Lyons, head of the survey department, is in charge of the topographical and archaeological survey, and has assigned to Dr. Reisner the task of excavating the monuments at present buried under the soil and the recording and publishing of these excavations. The work is expected to last five years. —Wasp.

CHURCHES WILL OBSERVE "STAINLESS FLAG" DAY

Nazarene Congregations of Bay Counties to Hold Ten-Days Camp Meeting at Beulah Park.

Tomorrow will be observed as "Stainless Flag" Sunday by the churches of this city. From practically every pulpit the pastors will preach upon some phase of the claim that civil government cannot by license or otherwise rightfully give legal standing to the liquor traffic. This is in keeping with the nation-wide movement that had its origin in the National Convention of the Anti-Saloon League held in St. Louis last November. At that gathering Dr. E. S. Chapman, leader of the anti-saloon forces of California, delivered his address entitled "A Stainless Flag," which not only gained for him a national reputation, but resulted in the proposition to observe June 30, 1907, as "Stainless Flag" Sunday throughout the nation. Over one thousand pastors in California alone have signified their intention to observe this day, and have been furnished gratuitously by the Anti-Saloon League as many copies of Doctor Chapman's address as they will agree to distribute. In California alone over a hundred thousand copies will be circulated among the people on this one day, and other States are not behind in making the results as far-reaching as possible.

SPOKE HERE.
Doctor Chapman has delivered this address in all the principal cities of the country. Only last March he gave in here a large audience here in Oakland in the First Congregational Church.
The large work of sending out to the pastors the more than sixty thousand copies of the address for central and northern California has been done in the Oakland office of the Anti-Saloon League in the Albany block. Rev. J. R. Knodell, who is in charge of the Oakland office, will spend the "Stainless Flag" Sunday at Beulah Park, where the Anti-Saloon League has a field day at that time. Dr. Chapman, who has been in this vicinity for the past two weeks looking after the interests of the work, returned to Southern California Wednesday night. On July 7th, the League has a field day in the city of San Jose, when Dr. Chapman, Mr. Knodell and two other league workers will fill all the pulpits of that city, looking to a campaign in the near future.

A large attendance is anticipated and there are already fifty tents to be put up on the grounds.
